PRIDE IN MHS

AND SHOWIN' IT

As students at McEachern High School, we all feel quite proud to be a part of its fine tradition and heritage. Each and every building represents the changes McEachern has gone through. From the white columns of Russell Hall to the steps of the new gym, each student is aware of McEachern's growth and progress. We point out with pride the beauty of the campus and the overall friendly atmosphere. As the McEachern crest states along with the alma mater, "the ideals of truth, honor, and loyalty are upheld."

Every team, club, and support group evokes feelings of spirit and unity from the student body, faculty, and parents. Because McEachern has something for everyone, we all are able to wear our blue and gold with pride.

1. Clown sells balloons at Homecoming fair. 2. Junior Steve Espy attends a class meeting. 3. Varsity cheerleader Misty Cannon teaches a cheer at a pep rally. 4. Junior Ken Cantrell plays solo during pre-game. 5. Mr. Williams converses with referees before Homecoming game. 6. Drum Major Angie Roper poses before a performance. 7. Seniors show spirit by saluting the alma mater. 8. The band shows pride in MHS.

"I feel McEachern has something that no other schools have. It has a beautiful campus, great teachers, and great students. Most of all, a person can find the most reliable friends here."

Suzie Labanok

"My pride for this school comes from my sense of belonging here. I have grown so much and I think I have been made better because of this school."

PRIDE IN US

AND SHOWIN' IT

We, as students at McEachern High School, are proud to belong to such a great educational institution. We are proud of the spirit of cooperation exhibited by our school. Our coaches and our teams work hard together as they try to gain one more victory for the McEachern Indians. Not only do they work hard, but they also practice long hours throughout the season. Each afternoon one is always able to find several individuals working out in the weight room as they strive to improve the strength of their bodies. Runners are a common sight on the track, and the tennis courts often fill to capacity with players practicing their forehands and backswings.

We are also proud of our clubs and the members of each class. They exhibit great resourcefulness and pride on the day of the homecoming festival by sponsoring booths and activities to raise money for themselves and the junior class. On the day of the festival the school was crowded with smiling faces and a spirit of enthusiasm. Pride was also demonstrated by homerooms and club banners that used as their theme "Go for the Gold." We will never forget the success of that day.

We are proud of the collegiate atmosphere our campus displays. Students are able to enjoy the fresh air during the day and all enjoy spending the spring and summer days soaking up the sunshine. Students point with pride to the campus' cleanliness and beauty.

McEachern is proud to talk about 50 years of academic excellence and the many contributions to the community. We are excited about what can be accomplished through Thanksgiving gift boxes, participation in White Christmas, blood drives, and helping those throughout the community need the love and support of the blue and gold.

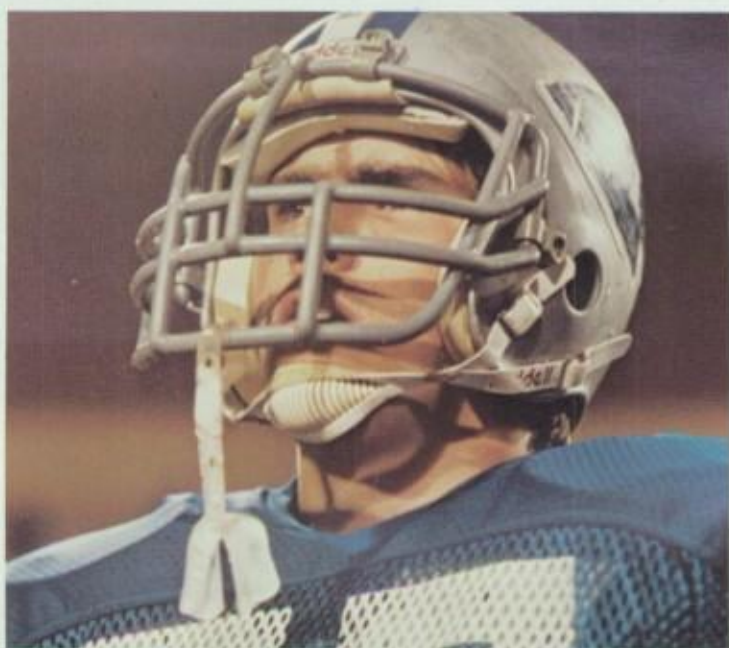

Being an integral part of the community as McEachern has always been is a goal all schools work toward. Community involvement is hardly restricted to occasional PTSA meetings; the motto from Homecoming, "Go for the gold" could easily be interpreted by the McEachern community to the area theme.

with pride. 7. Seniors Debbie Davis and Michelle Stanley cheer on the Indians. 8.
Mr. Williams looks over the enthusiastic crowd with pride.

"Sitting in the crowd with friends cheering for the team I really feel a part of the school; a lot of the normal inhibitions disappear so I can let go and cheer with the rest!"

Beth Koose

"I feel that most of the students at McEachern love the school, as well as each other."

Paulette Wallace

"I cheer when we need cheering, or when we're behind and need to be cheered. I feel that pride is an important part of a school and I feel that everyone should be proud of this school."

Beverly Carroll

"The school is like one big family unit, each person caring for the other."

PRIDE IN SYMBOLS

AND SHOWIN' IT

1. Senior president Adrienne Greene awaits start of assembly. 2. Football players show their pride by saluting flag at football game as band plays; ROTC presents colors. 3. Sophomore mascot Lori Hullender raises cheering section's spirit before game. 4. A representation of McEachern's crest emphasizes truth, honor, and loyalty. 5. NJROTC presents colors to crowd. 6. Chief Knockahoma participates in homecoming. 7. Junior president Tim Smith stands in honor of the Senior Class of 1984. 8. Run-throughs made by cheerleaders always show pride and spirit.

A symbol is something that stands for an object, idea, or quality. Symbols are a common part of American life; the eagle is a well-known symbol of America, and the skull and crossbones easily identify sinister pirates. Many symbols appear in places around campus and represent our pride in McEachern. McEachern itself has become a symbol of pride to many Cobb Countians and to the surrounding communities.

The most prominent symbol seen on campus is the Indian on the football field. The Indian was dedicated in 1973 by the Senior class, who purchased it from Taber Pontiac in Atlanta. Many individuals worked diligently to raise funds for the permanent concrete stand that holds the proud Indian today.

The flag that represents a strong pride in America also expresses a feeling of pride on our campus. The courtyard located in the center of campus is the focal point for the flags, which are flown proudly each day. Mr. Williams' efforts to restore the campus to its intended beauty are best displayed at the base of the flagpole; the entire area is now a true symbol of McEachern's pride in America.

A recent addition to the collection of symbols that we have as a part of our student life is the mace that was designed by graduate John Carr, and presented to the school by the class of 1983. The mace was designed to be carried by a representative of the senior class each year in formal assemblies and gatherings. It represents the establishment of a tradition that hopefully will be a part of the senior class for years.

The school crest has appeared in various places more frequently this year and shows the truth, loyalty, and honor that McEachern students hold. Thanks to the art department, under the direction of Miss Linda Christian, students have hand-painted the crest in prominent and visible locations.

Mr. Williams has greatly encouraged students to express and exhibit their symbols of pride in McEachern. We have had many exciting pep rallies to support our athletes, senior recognition assemblies to show our support for our seniors and seniors-to-be, and in all gatherings the crest and school colors have been displayed more prominently than ever.

"The coat of arms is the primary symbol of McEachern to me because I believe that 'Truth, honor and loyalty' are traits that are really demonstrated at this school. These three traits are what make McEachern High what it is ... a really special school."

Tanya Hester

"I feel that the Indian that the class of 1973 dedicated to the school is the greatest symbol of all for McEachern. It is as if the Indian holds the student body together. We can all relate to one central thing ... the Indian."

Kim Rabun

"The Indian symbolizes not only triumph, but tradition."

Rusty Taylor

PRIDE IN YOU

AND SHOWIN' IT

McEachern, we shall always look to you with great pride for you are a prime example of fine tradition and academic excellence. You are warm, friendly, and sympathetic to the needs of others. You show great enthusiasm for all organizations, clubs, and teams. You are beautiful on the outside, and the teachers on the inside are understanding, supportive, and eager to guide the young people who enter your doors. Furthermore, you exhibit truth, honor, and loyalty. You also burst forth with a great deal of school spirit, and everyone who comes into contact with you senses your special qualities. McEachern, we will always be faithful to you because you maintain the values we hold dear in our hearts. We shall always remember the love and support you have provided us with.

Lisa Carter

"In all the sports and clubs I am in, I'm proud to be a member. There is a special closeness between people who share the same interests that makes you feel good and proud to be a part of it."

Crystal Anne Earwood

"McEachern will always be a special part of my life, no matter how long I've been away."

Jenny Thomas

"In 25 years I think I'll look back and be proud that I went to such a fantastic school. I hope that my children will get the opportunity to go to a school like McEachern."

Sandy Norman

"In 10 years, I will think of McEachern as a place where I built my memories. I matured here at McEachern and I will be sad when I leave. McEachern will always be a part of my memories."

Jennifer Hartley

The unique character of McEachern is derived primarily from the personalities of its students. McEachern's student body is made up of a wide range of types of young people. As a result, the range of activities in which they are involved is equally diverse.

For the athletic student, McEachern offers every possible sport, from a growing varsity football program, to volleyball, cross country, or girl's softball. For the highly motivated academic student, the school is able to offer honor clubs, accelerated learning programs, academic bowl challenge teams, and a superior force of qualified personnel who strive to place students in rewarding post high school positions.

The majority of students at McEachern have no problems finding a "niche" to which they can easily adapt. The atmosphere of the campus is congenial, with an emphasis on enjoying the years spent at McEachern. Classes are a number one priority for most students, but fun is a prominent aspect of each day. Smiles are contagious and can be found anywhere on campus.

Groups such as band, NJROTC, chorus, and various teams provide the necessary closeness that students need to develop social relationships. Various groups concentrate on skill development and all seem to promote a closeness between the individuals involved and the school.

McEachern's school days are not all routine; each week seems to bring a new "surprise." A typical week is never just typical; there may be pep rallies, assemblies, club meetings, or "culture days." School pictures may have to be remade or a new fire drill procedure practiced. Study halls may be assigned, and mid-term reports might be sent home. Homecoming, of course, is an experience that defies description. Each school year is unique within its 180 days, but a sense of tradition is felt by all.

Many events preceeded the beginning of October 15's homecoming football game. The 1983 homecoming court paraded before the crowd around the track. This colorful procession was a very special occasion for many important reasons; it was the first year that McEachern has had six seniors on the homecoming court. Also, it was the first year that all of the young ladies wore short, semi-formal dresses, instead of the familiar formal evening gowns.

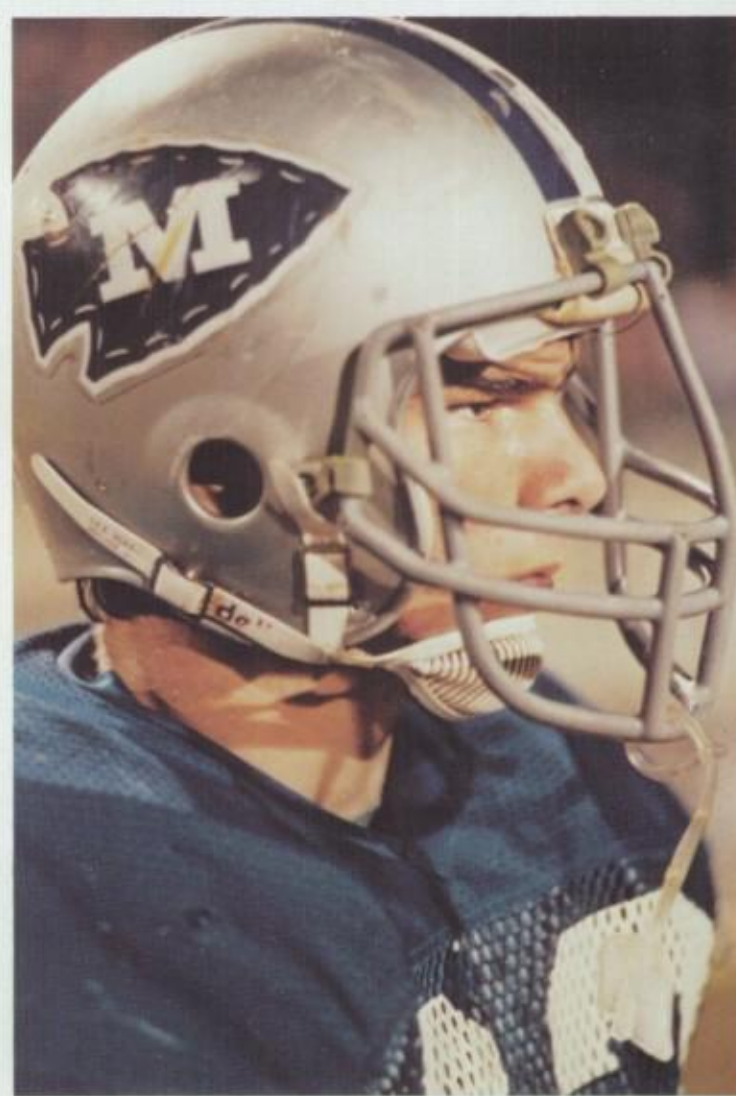

After the parade, the class of 1973 presented Rhodel Dacanay, president of the '84 student body, with a plaque rededicating the Indian that guards our football field. Then, parents, students, and guests had the surprise of reliving McEachern history; ten former homecoming queens who reigned between the years 1957-1982 came to share of part of the festivities. They showed their loyalty to that tradition as they returned to McEachern and remembered the thrill of having their names called as a McEachern homecoming queen.

The evening festivities continued with a great kickoff to our 50th anniversary homecoming game against the Wills Tigers. As the second quarter proceeded to close, the spirit of the crowd rose in anticipation of the crowning. At halftime the crowd took one final look at the 1983 homecoming court before the introduction of the new homecoming queen—Miss Beth Houser, crowned by 1982 queen, Miss Tracie Dale. At the close of the game McEachern showed its pride by rolling over the tigers with a 35-14 victory.

Homecoming Festival 1983

To celebrate McEachern's Golden Anniversary an all-day festival was held on campus. The date chosen for the anniversary celebration was October 15. McEachern's homecoming game was played against Mills High School with the annual homecoming dance following the game.

During the day each club and class was encouraged to operate a booth or provide an activity to raise money for the organization. A certain percentage from the profits was also donated to the junior's prom fund. The class booths featured the senior's dunking booth, the junior's spook house, the sophomore's jailhouse, and the freshmen's sale of homecoming mums. Some of the most outstanding club booths included the arcade sponsored by the student council, the raffle of a home computer sponsored by the computer club, VICA's car show (complete with trophies), and the Beta club's fish pond for children. In addition to the many booths, entertainment included the group "Alternative" and McEachern's own "Touch of Class."

People from the community came out in crowds to participate in the day's activities. In addition to the club/class booths, a big draw for the day was the arts and crafts exhibits and sale. Almost thirty craftsmen responded to the invitation to exhibit and sell their art on campus during the festival. Buyers could choose from wooden hand-crafted toys, bread-dough art Christmas ornaments, hand-tooled leather work, dried flower arrangements, and much more. At 2:00 in the afternoon a parade was held in honor of the homecoming court with some of McEachern's former queens participating. The day's activities closed around 5:00 p.m. with everyone agreeing that the day was a success. McEachern, you did it again!

Spirit week features old favorites and M*A*S*H* hits

Spirit shown all week

The most anticipated week of the school year has always been Homecoming Spirit Week. Homecoming '83's week began with Toga Day; sheets were everywhere and gods and goddesses "Romed" the campus. Halloween came early to McEachern as students and teachers dressed in their favorite costumes on Tuesday. McEachern took a trip back in time on Wednesday's 50's day, which proved to be a traditional favorite for teachers and students alike. On Thursday, dressed in black, marching in a funeral procession, Seniors mourned the death of spirit at McEachern. The resurrection of the Indian brought spirit back into our school. Also that day, underclassmen stalked the tigers dressed in their camouflage for the first M*A*S*H* Day ever. Students celebrated and showed their pride on Friday's Blue and Gold Party Day. Seniors won dress up day participation Monday through Thursday, with the Freshmen winning on Friday. Spirit links were sold to raise spirit and money during the week. Seniors dominated spirit week, winning twenty-one of twenty-seven points. Homecoming Spirit Week is an enjoyable tradition of which students at McEachern are proud.

The year 1983 was celebrated by McEachern as its 50th anniversary of the "birth" of the McEachern School. Since its beginning as an Agricultural and Mechanical school in 1907, McEachern has been growing continually and became a consolidated school in 1933.

Within the first year as the A&M school a boy's dormitory, now Russell Hall, was built. In 1912, the girl's dormitory was built in the area where the vocational building now stands. At that time the principal's home was located directly next to the girl's dormitory. As an agricultural school many of the students were able to work on the school's farm to pay their tuition.

In the 1920's the late Senator Richard B. Russell was a student at McEachern and a resident of the boy's dormitory. Later the dormitory was dedicated to him and named Russell Hall. The principal's house of today was originally used as a senior hall.

In 1933 the A&M school was abandoned. Small neighborhood schools were joined together into the Macland Consolidated School. School opened in October of 1933 with only thirteen teachers.

The John McEachern family financially supported the maintenance of the school. With the permission of the Cobb County Board of Education the name was changed to The John McEachern School to honor the McEachern family and to recognize their invaluable aid to the school. In 1948 an elementary school was built and in 1957 the building was enlarged. The building is now known as the John McEachern building.

In 1964 a junior high building was constructed and named Macland Hall. During the same time, Russell Hall was converted to a classroom building. One year later, in 1965, a stadium was built on the campus next to the entrance of the school.

In 1966-67 the Administrative and Library buildings were constructed. The Vocational building was added to the campus in 1980 and houses the trade and industrial workshops. The most recent construction has been the new physical education facility and the enlarged stadium.

Today McEachern employs a faculty and staff of ninety-five and houses over 1,650 students. In the years to come the school is set on a course of growth and academic development.

Guys & Dolls gamble for love

In the spring, everyone looks forward to the choral department's presentation of the spring musical. The '83 production of "Guys & Dolls" was directed by our former choral director, Karen Strickland, and Denise Scarbrough, who functioned as the choreographer. "Guys & Dolls" was performed on April 21 and 22 at the Cobb Civic Center. The leading roles were portrayed by Todd Alley, Cari McNutt, Leanne Goins, and Trevor Jordan.

The musical centered around Nathan Detroit, a bookie and a gambler, and Miss Adelaide, a Hot Box Dancer and Nathan's fiancée of fourteen years. As the curtain opens, the audience finds Detroit having problems locating a place for the guys to gamble because of the heat from the police. When Nathan finds out that Sky Master-son, a very high roller, is in town, he tries to "pull one over on him" by betting that he cannot take Miss Sarah Brown from the SAVE-A-SOUL MISSION to Cuba with him. Although Sky succeeds in his endeavor, he lets Nathan win the bet because he has fallen in love with Miss Brown. As the curtain closed the audience learns that Sky and Sarah have been married and Nathan and Adelaide are finally well on their way to the altar. Everyone is pleased with the happy ending and the musical is a great success!

Graduation '83: A time for dignity and pride

Graduation '83 was impressive in many ways for all: students, parents, and faculty members. Graduates wore the traditional navy gowns, which will be changed in '84 with the advent of white gowns for the girls. The emphasis in '83 was, as usual, on formality and gravity, as the students' formal names were used during the diploma presentation. Speakers for the evening were Joel Addison, Andrew Postell, Eric Holloway, Fred Gates, Penni Reid, and Scott Martin. The presentation of diplomas was given by Mr. Ralph Williams, Mrs. Judith Patterson, Mr. Duff Greene, and Mr. Sam Whitfield.

Some parents at the ceremony were disturbed to know that not all spectators knew the proper etiquette required for such an occasion. Unfortunately, cheers, clapping, and leaving the gym after a favorite senior "finished," were common occurrences. Hopefully, parents of the '84 seniors will be better informed as to the proper behavior.

Last year's graduation was very unique for McEachern's faculty. For the first time, the faculty wore robes, which were provided by Mr. Williams. The robes were significant in their color and shape. The black robes were trimmed at the sleeves and hood, designating the college from which one graduated and the degree earned. We found among our faculty bachelor degrees, master degrees, divinity degrees, and Ph.D.'s; some were found to be from Georgia schools, while others came from major universities throughout the country. Wearing the robes gave the teachers a sense of pride in showing their own accomplishments.

The graduation of '83 was truly a combination of dignity and pride.

Juniors and Seniors leave behind their blue jeans

One of the most anticipated occasions of the school year is the Prom. It's the one time of the year to leave our blue jeans behind and indulge in elegance. One of the favorite attire last year was the antebellum dresses and the top hats and long tails with the tuxedos. Held at the Colony Square Hotel in Atlanta, last year's prom proved to be one of McEachern's finest. After months of planning, fundraising, and hard work, the class of 1984 exemplified true dedication in making the 1983 Junior-Senior Prom a success. Individuals who orchestrated the event were Adrienne Greene, Tammy Wallace, Piper Adams, Ms. Collum, and Ms. Goodell. Students and faculty enjoyed dining in some of Atlanta's finer restaurants before the prom; favorites were The Mansion, The Planters, Steak and Ale, The Sundial, The Lark and the Dove, and the Country Place at Colony Square. Various participants from last year's prom arrived in unique ways; some rented a wide range of cars to drive and others were driven by a hired chauffeur. After arriving at Colony Square, everyone waited in unusually long lines to have their pictures made and then danced until dawn to the music of the live band, "FM". A buffet was also furnished for those who were not quite full from their dinners and for those who had not yet eaten: chicken planks, shrimp, cheese and crackers, and a wide selection of fruits and vegetables were served. The 1983 Junior-Senior Prom was a very proud and special event and will always be cherished.

Coat-of-Arms exhibits pride

Recently, McEachern High School's coat-of-arms has been appearing all over campus. The art department has shown their pride by painting the crest on at least one wall in all the buildings across campus. Mr. Williams has, likewise, directed the purchase of special blazers for the administrators and coaches, displaying the crest on the pocket. The mace presented to the class of '84 by '83 seniors vividly displays the crest. In addition, Mr. Fleming took the initiative to make a flag exhibiting the coat-of-arms. At the homecoming pep rally, he presented his gift to the entire student body.

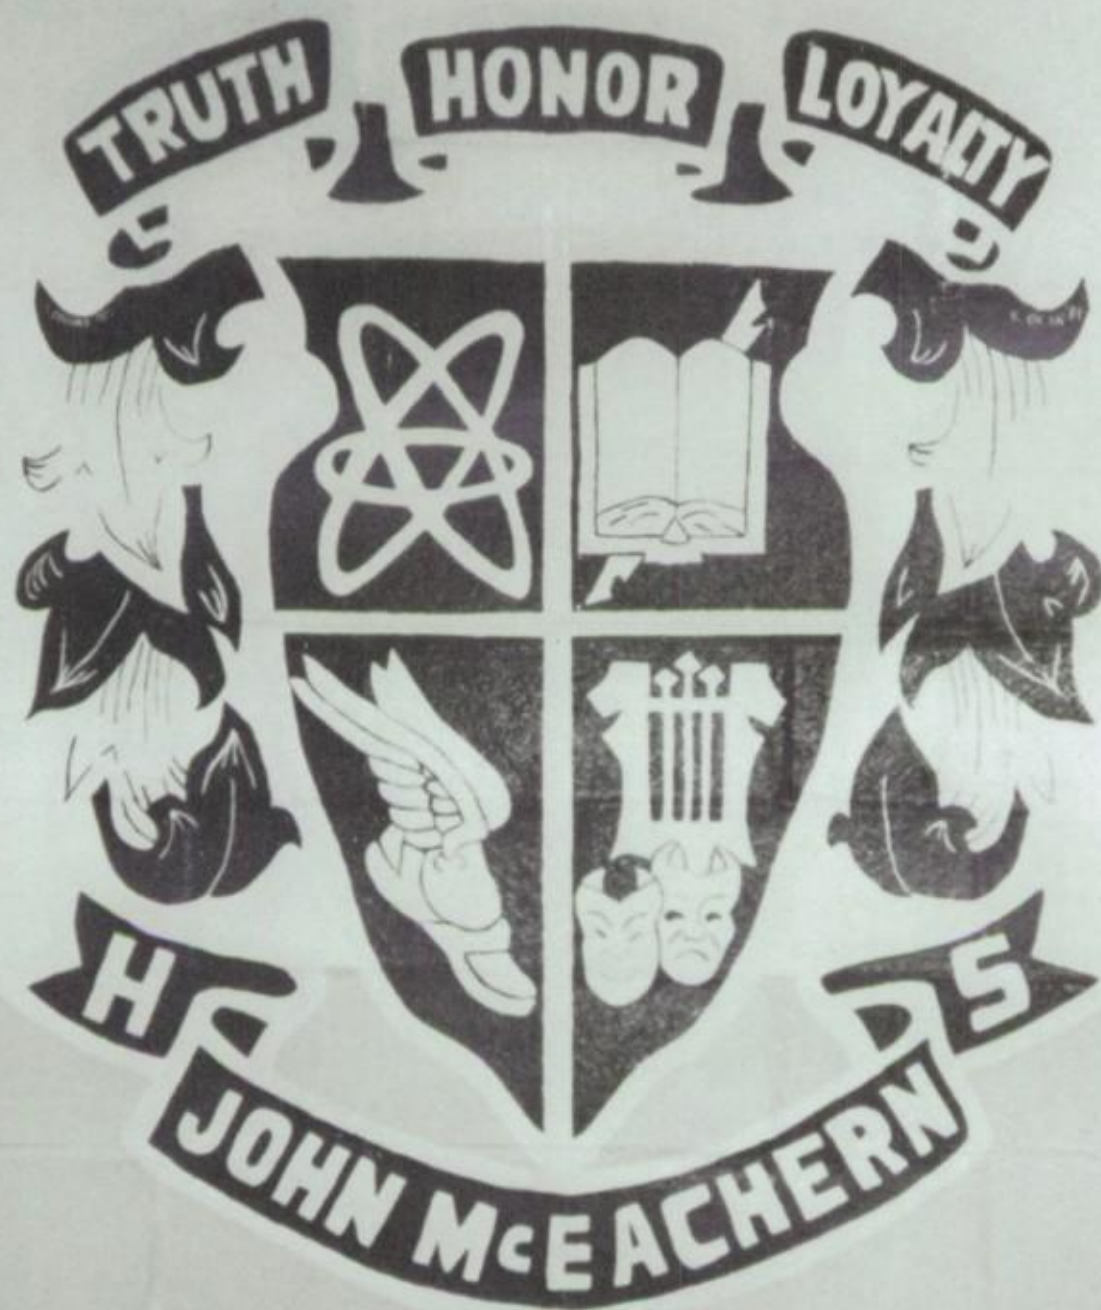

The crest has many different figures, each representing a unique part of education. The arms are displayed on a shield in the shape of an arrowhead. In the upper lefthand portion of the arrowhead one can find the atomic symbol which represents science. Next to it is the book and quill which stands for education and knowledge. Below the book and quill is the image of a mask and lyre symbolizing the arts. Finally, the winged foot depicts athletics and sportsmanship. All of these together make up the arrowhead which defends McEachern's ideals and traditions.

Appearing last, but by no means the least on the crest, is the school motto: truth, honor, and loyalty. Truth is the fact or facts; a matter or circumstance as it really is; a fixed or established principle. Here at McEachern we learn to find our true selves. We also acquire knowledge from facts of history, principles that are applied in math, science, and rules of grammar. Honor is the credit for acting well; glory, fame, or reputation; a nice sense of what is right or proper; nobility of mind; integrity. We, the student body, take honor in all that we participate. It is recognized in sports, the band, and chorus, NJROTC, our classwork, the annual, and special events such as homecoming, White Christmas, blood drives, prom, and graduation. Honor may also be defined as the way we carry ourselves and our appearance. Loyalty is our feeling or behavior of being faithful. At McEachern, loyalty is displayed year-round. We show it by our optimistic attitudes in everything we do. But, loyalty is primarily expressed through our school spirit. No matter how great the loss or the win, we are always supporting our teams faithfully. Through our support, it is clear to see how truth, honor, and loyalty are upheld at McEachern.

With all the worries over the cost of gas and choosing the right college or just making passing grades, today's students rarely sit and think about the cost involved in being a senior. They pay a few dollars here and a few more there, but they never realize that those dollars add up. During the senior year, a student must pay the regular fees and dues, but in addition, there are many special and important purchases which must be made. The following list is not complete, as every individual has his own personal choices and needs to meet, but it does give a very good approximation of the overall cost involved.

Do students take time to study?

The amount of time students at McEachern spend studying varies. There is that group of students who appear to do little else but study, and the other group that appears to never study, or at least not too often. The studious people find time and places all over campus to study. They are often found sitting in one class while studying for the next. Homeroom and breaks provide time to review or "catch up." During lunch, students may frequently be found in the middle of stacks of books and trays at the tables. Lying on the lawn on a nice day, they can be seen with friends quizzing each other. These students have even been known to gather together at various houses to study and have appropriately christened these get-togethers "study parties."

The other group of students are rarely seen with a book in hand. To them, breaks and homeroom are merely times to socialize with friends. Lunch period is strictly for eating, talking, and if the weather is warm, to catch up on some sleep while their friends cram for tests. Many of these students seem to have only the weekend and friends on their minds. The ringing of the bell for the end of the day finds these students walking out the doors with empty hands and carefree hearts, while their more studious classmates are barely able to keep up with and see over their own stacks of books.

1. Students listen with varying degrees of attention to their lesson. 2. Juniors Christie Kennedy and Cindy Little spend quiet time in the library. 3. The

It's a dog's life?

Ginger Williams has become a familiar "face" at McEachern in the past two years. So much so that one can easily spot a visitor or new student by his or her expression when they see Ginger lounging on her couch in the main office. During her first two years, she has made many friends around the campus. Among her dearest friends are Ms. Barbra Keith and Mrs. Ann Cervant, who have been known to feed an occasional bone to Ginger before and after school. Almost everyone has stopped at one time or another to give Ginger an affectionate pat or a gentle tummy rub.

Ginger has shown school spirit in the past few years by participating in spirit week. She has been spotted wearing a bandana for Country Western Day, "shades" for the pep rallies, and blue and gold painted fur. Ginger shows her devotion to the school's teams by appearing at all sports events and especially favored bonfires with Mr. Williams. Hopefully Ginger will be a "professional" McEachern student, one who never graduates to bigger and better avenues.

The Krogh family brings a "Touch of Class" to McEachern

This year McEachern was very fortunate to add to its student body three members of a very talented family. Rick who is a senior, Randy a junior, Lauri a freshman, and Robert who is twelve make up a harmonious group called "Touch of Class." The group is very family oriented. Their dad handles equipment and acts as manager of the group, while their mother arranges the music and helps with practices. The group exhibits a great deal of dedication and tries to practice at least a couple of hours every day.

"Touch of Class" has been performing for almost eight years. They have performed at various places such as Las Vegas, Disneyland, conventions, and, of course, for our school. The senior class and their parents saw a special presentation at the covered-dish dinner held this past fall. They also performed at the fiftieth Homecoming festival and have recently released an album.

After touring Atlanta this summer, luckily for us, the Krogh family decided this was the place to be and moved here from Salt Lake City, Utah.

1. "Touch of Class" performs at the homecoming festival. 2. Rick, Robert, and Randy make use of comic relief. 3. "Touch of Class" provides entertainment for the senior class and their parents.

Students participate in culture days

Many words such as fiesta and food come to mind when thinking about culture days at McEachern. According to Ms. Karen Goodell, Spanish teacher, culture days serve as a comparative study of language, cultures, foods, and customs. Culture days may also be used as a break from the normal, everyday routine of the language classroom. Spanish students bring foods prepared from recipes from the various Spanish speaking countries, as well as bringing pinatas and Spanish-American food ("la M&M's," "la potatoe chips", "los doritos"). These activities provide a cultural extension of Hispanic studies.

French students usually participate in culture day by bringing pastries, quiche, and French breads. Latin students provide grapes, cheese, and grape juice for their classroom festivities. Culture days are a fun and educational way to learn about the many people who share our world.

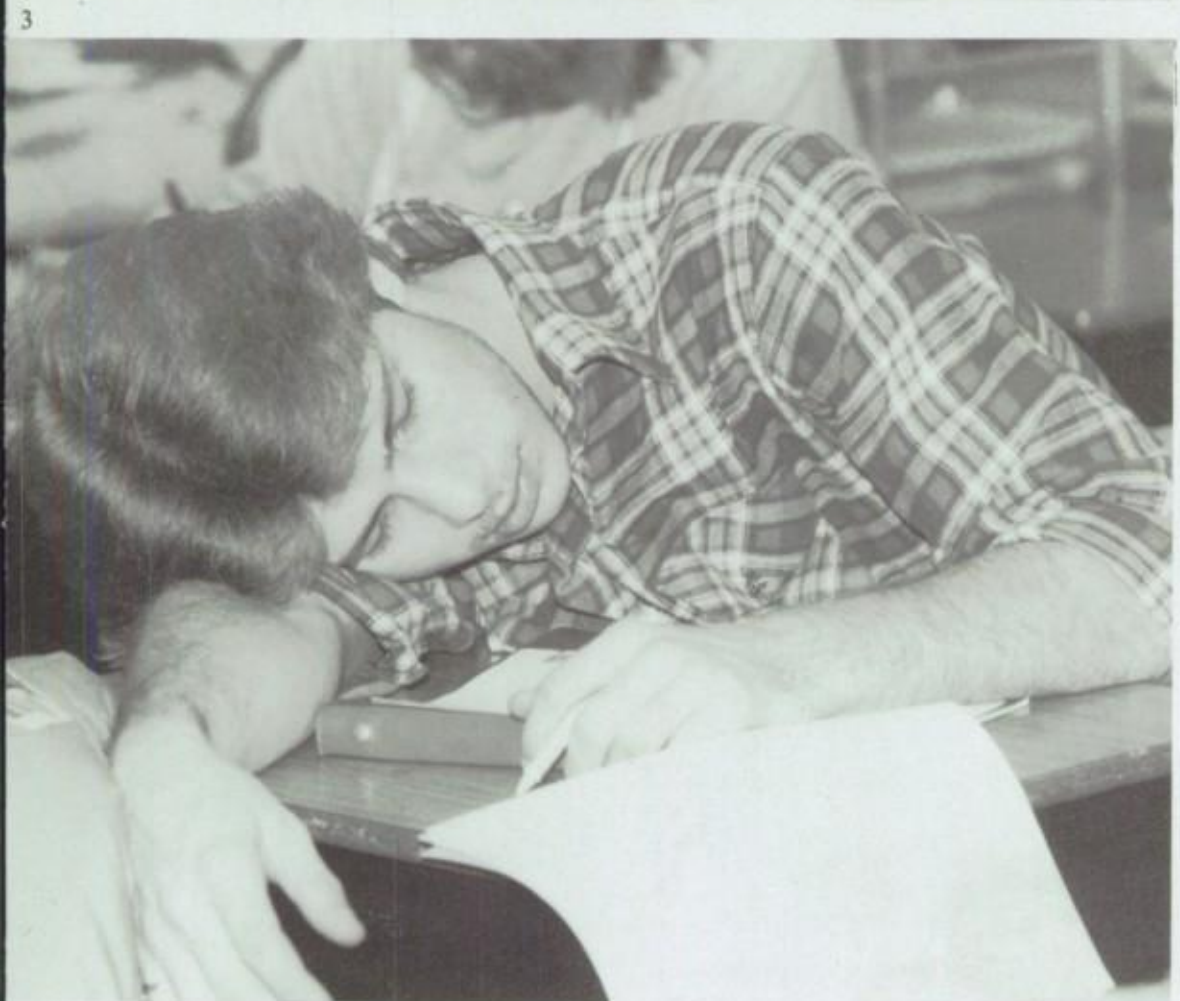

1. Seniors Emily Adams and Patricia Meurrens fill up their plates during French culture day. 2. Juniors Julie Heckman and Jackie McClure enjoy food on culture day. 3. Students enjoy quiche and other foods during culture day.

Students break from normal routine

Have you ever felt like Sleepy, one of the seven dwarfs? Have you ever been ready for the day to be over before it even started? If you have ever experienced such familiar feelings, you are like hundreds of people on the McEachern campus. Sleepy people can be easily identified in and out of classrooms; they are the ones who are constantly yawning, the ones who crash during lunch, and the ones who sleep during those exciting "educational" films. The sleepy people are the ones who "act" awake in first period; the ones who lay their heads on the desks while the rest of the class does "busy work." A most common sight is a glimpse of the sleepy sly ones who think that they are hiding from the teacher, when in reality everyone sees them sleeping and hears them snoring. The most crucial problem that faces sleepy people is how to get it together for first period. If you are one of the sleepy people, you are not alone. There are hundreds of us out there, and "rest" assured, there will be hundreds more to come.

As usual, the McEachern High School Band had a superb season in 1983. It all began in early August when the band attended camp in Maryville, Tennessee. That one week of continuous practice was what really got the year started. Although camp did involve a great deal of hard work, there was an equal amount of fun mixed in with it. The dances were wonderful and the free time was well spent by swimming, eating, or, more often, resting.

By combining marching and musical skills the band provided an excellent show during the football season which included Music for a Ceremony; Brand New Day from "The Wiz"; The Typewriter, which was a solo for drums; and Half-way Home.

Besides performing during each half-time, the band also appeared in many parades and competitions. Band members particularly looked forward to competition since they usually involved travelling. One competition that was favored was an event in Jacksonville, Florida which was followed by a two-night stay at Daytona Beach.

Everyone sees the finished product of the band's performance, but few are aware of all that is included in being in the band.

Each member participates in practice, festival preparations, and fund-raising activities. This year both fund-raising projects were a great success. The band sold cheese and sausage, and citrus fruit. The money that was raised from these projects went to each student's individual account to help defray the cost of upcoming trips.

At the end of the season, there are always feelings of mixed emotions. Although most students are relieved that there will be no more after school practices, they also realize that the time spent with their closest "band buddies" will be missed until the following season. It is especially difficult for the seniors, as they will no longer be a part of something that has given them a great deal of joy and good times. At the last football game of '83, all senior band members were honored after their final half-time show. The many memories they have will always be greatly treasured.

Everyone at McEachern appreciates the talents of Mr. Bowman and the marching band. They are a proud part of our school and we can all look forward to many years of excellence to come.

McEachern's Campus becomes the new Callaway Gardens

With each new school year, students and teachers come back together and start out fresh for the upcoming days that lie ahead. Students and faculty found quite a few changes in McEachern's campus at the beginning of the school year. Over the summer, our campus flourished with the addition of trees, shrubs, mums, and marigolds. Some of the additions could be found on the hill as one entered the campus, in the front parking lot, and at various locations around campus. Great pride was also taken in the resodding of the football field. McEachern's stadium has been called "the best playing field in the state." All the region playoffs are held at McEachern's stadium and some band competitions are also hosted. To prevent parking problems, the "old" gravel lot was paved over the summer and was extended behind the vocational building. It provided more parking space in '83 for students driving to school, region playoffs, and football and basketball games. In addition to a practically new football field, a soccer field is under construction in the lot below the newly paved parking lot. This facility will also be available for future band practices. Thus, the school campus which was once rumored to be "the armpit of Cobb County schools" has now become "McEachern's Callaway Gardens."

Once again the choral department has made some changes. This year Mr. David Blalock has taken over as the new choral director. Mr. Blalock has begun a new choral group, Camarata, which combines pop singing arrangements with choreography designed by Bonnie Marchildon. The members of the group not only meet as a class, but also practice during the week after school and occasionally on Saturdays. Through their hard work and dedication they have been able to perform at reputable places such as The Waverly Hotel, Lanier Hotel, Mariott Hotel, and, of course, our White Christmas and Superlative Assemblies. Other groups include the Concert choir and the girls' chorus. These groups also aspire to acquire a professional performance level.

Mr. Blalock has endeavored to enlarge and upgrade the choral department. This year he has a total of 105 members in the chorus. In addition, he intends to expand Company M and create another choreographed singing group. The choral department will also perform in the annual spring musical. Carnival will be performed as a Dinner Theater catered by Po Folks.

The choral department has had a very successful year and hopes for an even better upcoming year.

Diplomat for a day

Sponsored by Georgia State University, the Model United Nations enables high school students from all over Georgia to experience the thrill of being a diplomat for a day. Those students who become involved in Model UN display a special interest in current events and a desire to become more knowledgeable about world affairs. This year McEachern students represented the countries of Cuba, East Germany, and Zimbabwe. After much research, they accurately portrayed the policies of each country. They spent three days at the Model UN making an effort to cooperate with delegates from other nations in order to find solutions to such problems as the deployment of nuclear arms, sea pollution, and the removal of multi-national peace-keeping forces in Lebanon. Students not only took part in heated debate, but also became familiar with parliamentary procedure. Awards were handed out on the last day to those delegates who most accurately portrayed their country's foreign policy. McEachern participants found the Model UN to be a rewarding experience. They enjoyed meeting fellow Georgians and realized the importance of cooperation between nations in order to attain world peace.

Literary Magazine provides opportunity

Students new around campus may not understand the posters covering the walls of JM stating, "Uncle Protteau Wants You!" This wacky form of propaganda is an attempt to enlist the creative talents of students in the publication of a literary magazine.

Students who are interested in becoming a member of the staff sign up for the course during pre-registration for spring classes and are entitled to elective credit for their efforts. Aided by advisor J.R. Protteau, staff members learn how to run a successful publication. Being a member of the literary magazine staff is not only a learning experience, but also an opportunity for future Poes and Frosts to see their names in print.

Savannah puts a smile in education

The McEachern High School A.P. U.S. History class recently took off from their regular classroom routine to spend several days exploring various historical sites throughout the state. The twelve juniors from the college-level class taught by David Eggleston withstood a rigorous schedule of sight-seeing while confirming their teacher's belief that "history is all around us."

The students left Powder Springs Thursday afternoon, November 10, for Washington, Georgia, where they visited the home of Robert Toombs, a U.S. Senator and Secretary of State for the Confederacy, and the Washington-Wilkes Museum. From there, it was on to Crawfordville to visit Liberty Hall, home of Alexander H. Stephens, Vice-President of the Confederacy, and the Confederate Museum, before journeying to Milledgeville for the night.

Friday afternoon found the students visiting the Old Clinton Historical Restoration Site. Clinton was at one time one of the largest cities in the state, as well as the site of an address by General Lafayette. The students visited the historic McCarthy-Pope House and did extensive research at the nearby cemetery.

Saturday morning in Savannah, the students toured Fort Jackson, where they saw a military re-enactment, and Fort Pulaski. The afternoon was spent at the Old Wormsloe Plantation and Museum.

The agenda on Sunday consisted of a ride through the historic downtown district of Savannah, including visits to Laurel and Colonial Park Cemeteries, the burial sites of numerous prominent Georgians. Trips to Fort McAllister and Midway Church and Cemetery rounded out the final day of the excursion, which had afforded the students a rare opportunity to experience history first-hand.

Twins give
double vision

McEachern is fortunate to have twelve sets of twins on campus. Each pair is a unique part of our school. In every set, one can observe both differences as well as similarities. For instance, when passing the "Wallace twins" one is likely to think that he is seeing double. However, one should not let his eyes deceive him, they are just passing two physically identical people who both happen to enjoy flannel shirts, levis, and hiking boots. On the other hand, when passing the "McClure twins" there is a much better chance that one will notice the differences. With Jill decked out in her "punk" outfits and Jackie in her "new wave" attire, it is rather difficult to get them confused.

Although the identical twins are easily noticed, the fraternal sets are often overlooked as being twins. In fact, few people acknowledge that Kim and Jim Turner, Charlie and Pat Nordholtz, Julie and Matt Johnson, and Joyce and Julie Myers are also twins. It is not as noticeable until one really gets a close look at them.

The miracle of twins is easily spotted here at McEachern. We hope that each of them realizes how fortunate they are, to have such a unique and enviously close relationship to someone very special.

Beta club bleeds school population

The Beta Club had the most successful Blood Drive ever in '83, with a total of 142 full pints of blood collected by the Red Cross. As usual, the club was well-organized for handling the drive. Many club members took time out of their classes to assist the Red Cross and help set the drive up.

People who donated blood were asked to sign up for a time to come to the library where the drive was held. When a donor came to the library, he was asked to read a form and a brochure explaining the qualifications of being a donor. He was then asked to show identification and proof of age. If the donor was seventeen and weighed more than 110 pounds he was sent to an area to have his blood tested and answer a series of questions about his health. Next, the prospective donor's blood pressure and temperature were taken. Having completed all of these tasks successfully, the donor was able to donate his or her blood. The donor was then escorted by a Beta Club member to a nurse and a table, where he was to lie down, and the simple and somewhat painless procedure began to take place.

The nurse scrubbed the donor's arm to cleanse it and then inserted a needle into his right or left arm inside his elbow. In most cases it did not take long for the pint bag to fill and most people were not seriously affected, although a few people fainted or came very close to it. The donor was then escorted by a Beta Club member where he received juice and cookies.

One reason the Beta's blood drive may have been so successful is because the donor feels a sense of pride after he has given his blood and this feeling is prevalent among the students and members of the faculty who have so willingly given a very special part of themselves to help other people.

Indianettes stay in step

One of the big highlights during home basketball games is the halftime entertainment performed by the McEachern Indianettes. The girls and their sponsors, Mrs. Lois Johnson, Mrs. Jackie Adair, and Mrs. Linda Turbeville, started working early in the summer to prepare for camp. The Indianettes attended the Super Star Showtime Camp at Marist High School in August. At the camp, the Indianettes were voted "Friendliest Drill Team." Individual awards for being outstanding in a certain routine were also given to many of the members.

After camp, members continued to practice two to three days a week. Their hard work paid off and they were asked to dance at two home football games for the pregame entertainment, and a home wrestling match. The Indianettes performed many sensational routines to such popular songs as "Beat It", "Everybody Wants You", "Blinded Me With Science," and others. In addition to dancing at sports events, the Indianettes were again invited to dance in the annual White Christmas assembly for the student body. They add to the Christmas spirit by wearing Santa hats and dancing to a popular Christmas tune.

The Drill Team adds sparkle and style to any event at which they perform. Their form of entertainment is enjoyed by all who have the opportunity to see them perform.

NJROTC strives for excellence

The N.J.R.O.T.C., (Naval Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps) is one of the most active and involved organizations on the McEachern campus. Most people do not realize all the hard work and dedication that goes into being a member of the NJROTC. One of the primary purposes of the program is to teach the members basic naval customs, traditions, and skills. Under the instruction of Lt. Connie Taylor and Chief J.C. Seymore, the McEachern unit presently has its largest enrollment of 131 members since the unit was formed in 1977. Some extra-curricular activities within the NJROTC include the Drill Team, Rifle Team, Seal Team, and Colorguard. Special services that the NJROTC provide are security for home basketball games, raising the flags each day, and directing traffic for parking at all home football games. The NJROTC is commended for being an organization that students can be proud to be a part of and proud to have at McEachern.

First impressions are unforgettable

A student's first impression of McEachern is often changed when he begins to feel more comfortable with the people and places around him. Many times a person's first day on such a large campus is filled with fright and insecurity. However, after a few weeks everyone is usually much more relaxed and familiar with his surroundings.

Kathy Furr describes her first day of school as being very exciting and views it as "a new beginning; a chance to start over from scratch." Now she feels as if she is "a part of McEachern." Her classmate, Tracy Austin, however, felt "confused and lost."

There were, obviously, a great many changes for our freshmen. As Joy Adams stated, "There is a lot more free time here at McEachern. Also, there are so many people." Tamara Cummins felt that the biggest change for her was that she had to settle down and do her work.

There were many small images that helped to form a wonderful impression on people. Paige Thomas felt that the thing that impressed her most about McEachern was the friendliness of the people, whereas the landscaping was most impressive for Kim Clark.

First impressions are very important, especially when one is in a strange place. Not only does our school impress the new students at McEachern, but we are also very impressive when viewed by students from other schools in Cobb County because of our friendliness and the beauty of our unique campus.

1. Sophomores begin their year off right. 2. The guys take it easy during break. 3. Freshmen appreciate benches to rest on during their first confusing day of school.

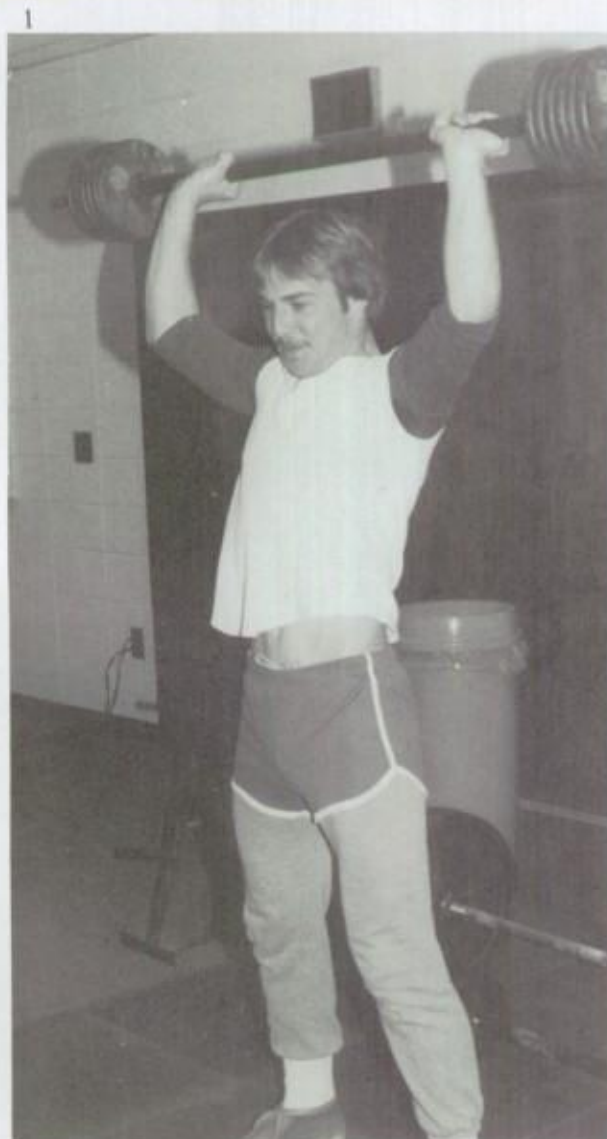

4. Seniors enjoy their courtyard and invite the juniors to join them. 5. Julie Stroud and Amy Brooks on their first day as seniors. 6. Students enjoy their freedom outdoors.

Are McEachern Students fit or fat?

School is not only a place to exercise and enlighten the mind, but it is also a place to exercise and tone up the body. Many students at McEachern make use of the fine weight room facilities in the new gym. Different machines and equipment can be found to strengthen calves, thighs, triceps, biceps, and yes, even tummy muscles. Most athletes begin training in the weight room long before their seasons begin. Working out is considered to be a necessary building block for any type of sport. Students also take dance and aerobic classes offered as electives here at McEachern. These classes are a fun way to exercise with a group on a daily basis. The track is also a popular place for students and faculty members who want to keep in shape and build their endurance. Whether working out, aerobicizing, or jogging, exercise is a healthy way for students to show pride in themselves.

1. Sr. Jeff Dubberly pumps iron during fitness B. 2. Varsity basketball players prepare to work out before practice. 3. Jr. Tommy Bergner serves during a volleyball class. 4. Jr. Matt Johnston does curls in the weight room. 5. Mr. Williams and Mrs. Patterson jog after school to stay in shape. 6. Girls Varsity basketball players practice after school. 7. Fitness students watch as Fr. Taylor Swain uses the exercise bicycle. 8. Students get in shape during a volleyball class. 9. Sr. Jeff Hannah works out after school with the aid of gravity boots.

Varsity Cheerleaders sparkle and shine for MHS

This year's Varsity cheerleading squad, sponsored by Roseanne Brasington, was truly unique. Not only did they get along with one another, but they were liked by both faculty and students. More than once it was said that this squad was different from any other. Not only did they show enthusiasm at pep rallies and games, but they had an inner glow that projected outward and touched those around them. The squad consisted of nine seniors and one junior, with four of the seniors cheering their third year on Varsity.

The Varsity squad attended camp at Mercer in Macon on July 31 through August 3. The squad earned second place in the Varsity division, as well as earning many ribbons in various categories. Although camp was hard work, it was a necessary building block. If a group of girls can live and work together for a week, one can be assured that they will cheer together successfully.

The Varsity cheerleaders showed super spirit throughout the year and they conveyed a positive attitude in and out of class. The Varsity squad is proud of McEachern and McEachern in turn is proud of the cheerleaders who give their time and energies to promote spirit in the student body.

Cooperation pays off for JV Cheerleaders

The JV cheerleading squad, sponsored by Teresa Edwards, showed a tremendous amount of spirit at camp, pep rallies, and games. During the summer, the JV squad attended a cheerleading camp held at Mercer University. They received first place in the JV division as well as earning many ribbons and spirit awards. The JV cheerleaders got along very well together, and, as a result, they were able to cooperate well as a squad. Their teamwork was apparent during their performances at football and basketball games. This squad deserves credit for bringing pride and enthusiasm to McEachern.

1. JV Cheerleaders take it to the top. 2. The JV cheerleaders are: Becky Smith, Beth Kennedy, Cherie Cole (Co-capt.), Betsy Downer (Capt.), Tiffany Adams, Rhonda Ellenburg, Kelly Brown, Flor Scheggia. 3. JV squad performs cheer during half time. 4. Cheerleaders build a pyramid.

Freshmen cheerleaders build spirit for the future.

This year's freshmen cheerleading squad was sponsored by Brenda Carroll, who attended camp with all three squads at Mercer University. The freshmen squad earned many ribbons and awards at camp; in addition they learned what camp and, specifically, cheerleading was all about. The freshmen squad got along well with the other two squads, and by the end of camp they were acting not as timid freshmen, but as old pros. The freshmen cheerleaders showed a great deal of spirit at their games. They are a squad that both the freshmen class and McEachern can be proud of.

McEachern dreams of a White Christmas

The spirit of Christmas came early to McEachern this year in the form of the annual White Christmas program. For an entire week, students brought in canned goods and toys which were collected in their homerooms. The following Tuesday the students of McEachern were able to present a sizeable donation to the City of Powder Springs (COPS) for Youth. The seniors showed their Christmas spirit as Adrienne Greene, senior class president, contributed to COPS the check for $100 which the class had won for most participation in the White Christmas drive.

The program proved to be fun as well as thought-provoking. The chorus and band performed a few numbers and Leanne Goins sang a solo, "It All Began in Bethlehem." The drill team did an enjoyable routine and the Varsity Cheerleaders had the entire gym laughing with their skit, "I'm Getting Nothin' for Christmas." No White Christmas program would be complete without a visit by the Swamp Bunnies and their special guest, Rudolph. And what is Christmas without Santa Claus? This must have been in the minds of many students when a mysterious Santa burst upon the scene, throwing candy and giving a laugh and song to everyone. Christmas at McEachern was truly "White" and a great success.

1. Santa Claus greets an eager crowd. 2. Mrs. Fleming as an unusual Rudolph. 3. Rudolph and the Swamp Bunnies talk with Mr. Bowman. 4. The Indianettes eagerly wait their turn to perform.

Test Your Knowledge of the 1983-'84 Year

How often many of us think "When is this day going to be over?" Somehow we make it through the day and before we know it we have made it through weeks and months of "those days" without taking a chance to sit back and reflect upon all the things that have happened.

When one quickly looks back he tends to remember the more tragic and highly publicized items such as the murder of Laurie Lynn Landt, the shooting down of Korean Air Lines Flight 007, and most importantly the conflict in Lebanon. For this reason, the Jomehan has provided a "Current Events Quiz" to help us remember more vividly the events of the 1983-84 year.

McEachern invades Washington D.C.

During the week of December 11th and 17th, nine McEachern students, along with others from across the country, traveled to Washington D.C. to take part in the Close-Up program. Close-Up is designed to introduce the high school student to our country's political process. The trip, which was open to any student in the 10th, 11th, or 12th grades, costs only $692 for the week. While in the area, the participants visited Jamestown and Williamsburg. The week was filled with activities including workshops, seminars, meetings with congressmen, and visits to the Smithsonian Institute, the Department of Labor, and Capitol Hill. Although the schedule was busy, the students were given a free day in Washington D.C., and also visited a dinner theatre in Maryland. The Close-Up trip was informative and exciting, but also a lot of fun.

Love is in the air

History has had its share of famous couples such as Romeo and Juliet, Anthony and Cleopatra, Napoleon and Josephine, and many more. McEachern High School has its share of famous couples also. The well known pairs fill the halls and saunter across the campus. Some of these "campus couples" have stayed together for years, while others come and go with the seasons. Traditionally spring brings, with the blooming of flowers and singing of birds, the new life of romance. Here at McEachern, fall and winter are not excluded from the excitement of a new love. To this day, the special attraction between a certain male and female is not clearly understood. Many attractions have been attributed to chemistry, certain foods, and magic. Anyone who has ever felt the excitement and joy of being in love can testify to the fact that it is not necessary to understand the reason he has fallen in love, but that he understands how to stay in love.

McEachern shows that practice makes perfect.

Everyone has heard the old sayings about practice making perfect and that if you try and try you will succeed. But the students at McEachern know that there is truth in these sayings even today. The people at this school want and expect the best from themselves and from others. Whether they are on the basketball team, cheering, or in the musical, they give their best. This means exhausting rehearsals, monotonous repetitions, and always sweat and tears. The students know that to be the best, they have to learn to give and take criticism and praise. Because they want to reach perfection, many hours are put in after school and on weekends, alone and with a team, to get the timing and actions just right. It is said that it is easy to be all right, but it is far harder to be the best. This is why the students at McEachern can take pride in knowing that they are the best.

Students make their votes count.

According to the Constitution of the United States of America, any U.S. citizen eighteen years old or older has the right to register and vote. The problem is that few of the people eligible to vote take the time to do so. Many people say that their vote will not make a difference in the outcome of the election. Today more people are becoming aware of this problem and are realizing that they can have an effect on their government by participating in the elections. This year McEachern High School took a major step in helping to do away with this apathy. The student council sponsored a Student Voter Registration Drive. Other schools in Cobb also participated by holding their own drives, hoping to present a challenge to more schools. The drive at McEachern lasted from January 3 to February 3, and was open to any student 17½ and older. These eligible students registered in either their Federal Government classes or in Mr. Williams's office. They were talked through the forms by Mr. Williams so that there would be no misunderstandings. Miss Sherri Jones and Mrs. Ann Wyatt are the student council sponsors behind this drive. The great student and faculty participation allowed McEachern to again show their pride.

McEachern takes pride in GHP nominees

The Governor's Honors Program is coordinated at McEachern by Mrs. Sandra Jones. This program is designed for students with a high academic ability, self discipline, and a commitment toward learning. Students chosen to participate spend six weeks during the summer in a learning experience on a college campus with 600 other gifted students from across the state of Georgia.

To qualify for the program, a student must be a rising junior or senior, and exhibit accelerated abilities in a certain area. The student then must be nominated by his or her teacher in the area of ability. A series of interviews at school, county, and state levels must be completed successfully after the initial nomination. Results from the state interview are announced in mid-April.

Students from McEachern who participated last summer in the program, including Lisa Caucci in communications, Leah Florence in social studies, and Roger White in music, claim it is one of the most memorable experiences in their lives. Many new friends are made, and of course, much is learned. The program also gives a taste of college life, because it is held on two college campuses North Georgia College and Valdosta State College.

This years nominees who are going to state interviews are Kerry Cannon in social studies, Kelly Caudle in communications, Lisa Collins in art, Jenny Lynn in communications, Karen McBride in computers, Blanton Radford in science, Byron Rogers in computers, and Jeff Turner in social studies.

1. 1983 GHP participants Lisa Caucci, Roger White, and Leah Florence. 2. Jenny Lynn, Byron Rogers, Blanton Radford, Jeff Turner, Lisa Collins, Kelly Caudle, Kerry Cannon, and Karen McBride are 1984 state level participants.

In 1933, the McEachern family granted money to the McEachern schools to be used for the improvement of the school program. This money is also used for seven scholarships given to outstanding seniors. These scholarships are awarded on the basis of scholastic achievement (75%), extracurricular activities (10%), dependability (5%), school spirit (5%), and citizenship (5%). These scholarships are paid directly to the college of the student's choice.

Each year, a list of the students with the top ten grade point averages is given to the principal. The students with these averages are given a questionnaire based on the above and other activities in which they participate. A committee of teachers chosen by the principal chooses the top seven candidates, and the remaining three names are held in case someone does not accept.

The amounts of the seven scholarships are as follows:

1st place	$1500
2nd place	$1300
3rd place	$1100
4th place	$1000
5th place	$ 900
6th place	$ 800
7th place	$ 700

In the past, these students have received the scholarships.

Pep rallies <sup>1</sup> promote a positive attitude

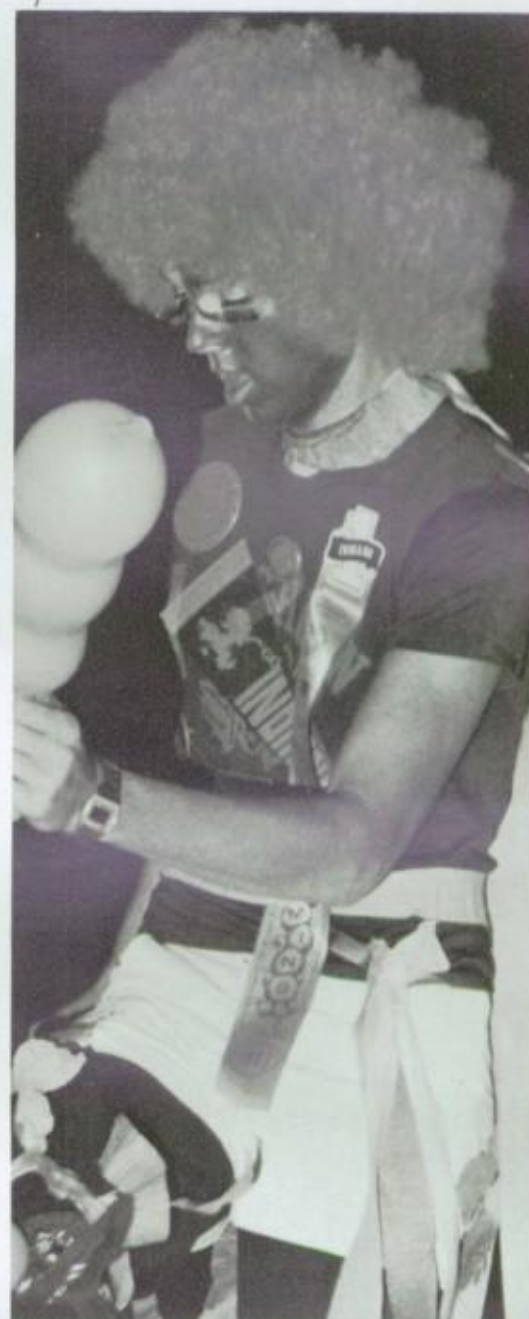

Pep rallies took on a different meaning at McEachern this year. Boos were replaced by cheers of encouragement and class rivalry was replaced by a spirit of school unity. Cheerleaders used new chants and class competitions to promote spirit within the student body, for the coaches and players. The band participated actively by playing the fight song and added enthusiasm with other band chants. Seniors were the most active participants in pep rallies this year. They participated by bringing noise-makers, and most importantly, giving support, leadership, and encouragement to the other classes. The drill team added a little rhythm to pep rallies by performing to popular tunes such as "Beat It" and "Everybody Wants You". Many "different" activities took place at 1983-1984 pep rallies, such as licorice-eating contests and balloon pops. Football players participated by making up motions to popular chants and performing them in front of the student body. Pep rallies became an event to look forward to and an enjoyable way to show the pride of McEachern.

Jomehans create another success!

The 1983-1984 Annual Staff has worked diligently for far over a year to produce another annual, as they do each year. With the exception of three staff members, Mrs. Cynthia Blackmon, the sponsor, was working with an entirely new staff. Mrs. Blackmon had to teach the fledgling staff how to draw layouts, crop pictures, write copy, and, most importantly, cope with everyone while under pressure. Juniors Brooke Conn and Joy Pope, who served as co-editors, were always willing to lend a helping hand.

Sports editor, Emily Adams returned for a second year on staff, and was there to help not only the sports section but anyone she could.

To start off the new year, Mrs. Blackmon planned a dinner party at Monterrey's Mexican Restaurant to welcome all the new members and to help them get acquainted. That night all staff members learned who would be working on which section. To be on the annual staff a person must be involved in school activities, maintain an acceptable grade point average, and be able to handle responsibility to the point of completing a job once begun.

A person would have to admit that being on annual staff is one of the best activities in which one can be involved if they have the right qualifications. Not only does it teach one to create and prepare a yearbook for publication, but it can prepare a person for a future career if he is thinking of going into journalism after high school. After being on a high school annual staff, a person may wish to pursue his interest by becoming involved with his college annual staff. The best way to earn a position on a college staff is to have experience and knowledge of yearbook techniques.

This year's Jomehan Staff worked very hard to prepare the 1984 annual. They had many hard times meeting numerous deadlines, but they pulled through once again and are proud to present this annual to all of the students and faculty at McEachern High School. Last but not least, thank-you to Mrs. Blackmon for all of your support. Your leadership pulled us through and your friendship was equally important. This year's Jomehan could not have been produced without you.

The range of people at McEachern varies greatly. The major groups on campus are, simply, students and faculty. There are approximately one hundred faculty and staff members, including teachers, aides, administrators, clerical personnel, and maintenance assistants.

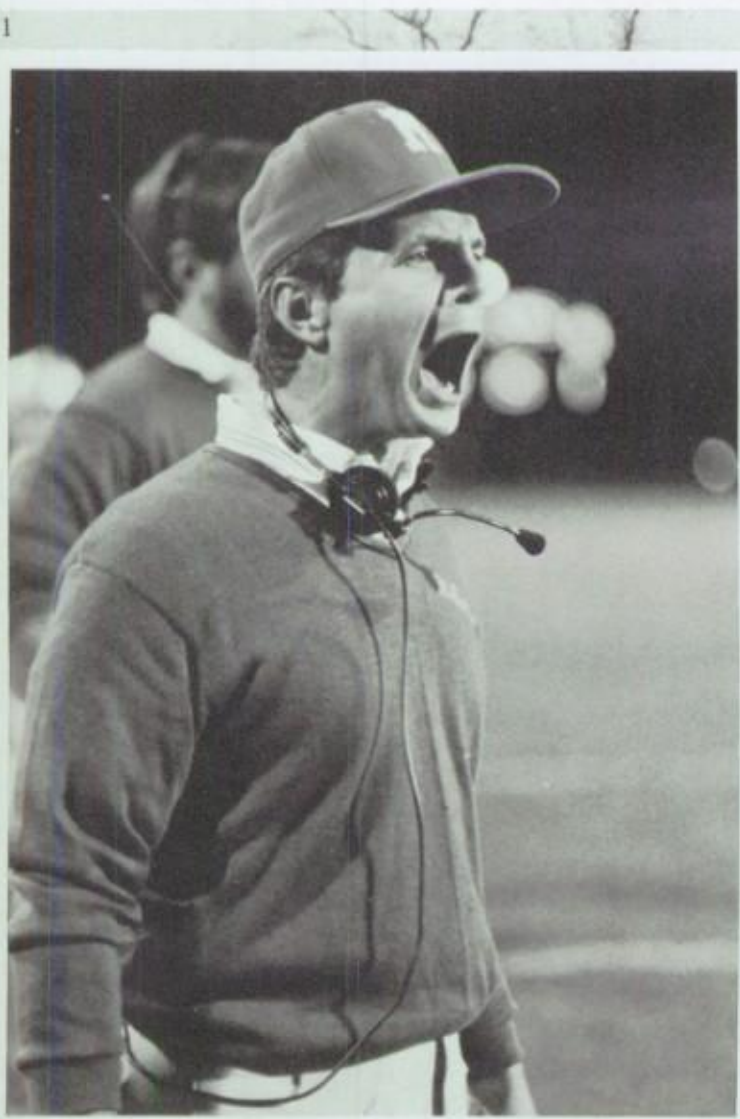

The largest group at McEachern is the student body. The freshmen class, consisting of approximately 485 members, is the newest group. Even in the spring, they wander and wonder about the campus. The sophomore class has approximately 448 students who have finally gotten their bearings straight and no longer roam the campus looking for classes. The junior class of about 372 members was in charge of presenting a satisfying homecoming festival and dance and a memorable prom for the seniors. Last, but certainly not least, is the senior class, perhaps the most important group on campus. This class consists of about 345 people who are on their way to discovering the big world. Some will attend college, others will go straight to the working environment. These individuals will probably remember this year, their last at McEachern, with the most pride.

It is not the buildings that make up the most important part of McEachern but the very special people who are here everyday.

People at McEachern

1. Coach Joiner shouts instructions during football game. 2. Chief Knockahoma stands with 1983 Homecoming Queen Tracie Dale and 1984 Homecoming Queen Beth Houser. 3. Mr. Williams and Mrs. Patterson converse in the lunchroom. 4. Sophomore Angie Nichols pauses at pep rally.

Booster Clubs help to maintain the organization of activities in our school. Each different booster club has to do with various aspects of school. One very critical booster organization is the Athletic Booster Club, whose officers are Mr. Bedingfield, Mr. Deering, Mrs. Knowles, and Mrs. Porter. Their club pays some of the costs for team uniforms and the members can be seen working in the concession stands during football and basketball games.

Another support group at McEachern is the Band Booster club. Band boosters work to pay for band trips to National Competition, help with county-wide band festivals, and obtain band uniforms. Also, members act as chaperones for the band trips.

NJROTC stands for "Naval Junior Reserve Officer Training Corp." Their booster organization pays for such extras as sweatsuits for the rifle team and trips to naval bases. Last year the booster club financed a trip to Orlando for the cadets in order to visit the naval air station; in March, 1983, the corp also went to Pensacola, Florida, to visit the air station.

McEachern's Choral Guild Officers are Mrs. Goins, Mrs. Mobley, Mrs. Nettles, and Mrs. Ashford. They sold megaphones and candy to assist in easing the cost of the spring musical. The money earned helped to pay for costumes, props, and the dresses used for performances. Choral Guild money-making projects also paid for the group's sheet music. In the spring of '83, the chorus took a trip to Helen, Georgia, where they performed for a church. The Guild financed the trip and will pay for another choral trip in '84 if one can be arranged.

The Guild also helps organize the Choral Banquet.

Two other "Booster Clubs" can be found constantly giving aid and support to McEachern: the PTSA (Parent-Teacher-Student-Association) and the Citizen's Advisory Council. The officers of the PTSA are Mr. and Mrs. Boatwright, Mrs. Vann, Mrs. Marshall, and Mrs. Kriner. The members of the Citizen's Advisory Council are Mrs. Boatwright, Mr. Herndon, Mr. Dacanay, Mr. Blackford, and Mrs. Cantrell. Both of these groups contribute enormously to the support of school organizations.

Busses transport students daily

Busses and bus drivers are a very critical part of our school day. For the students who do not drive or are unable to ride with a friend, busses are the only means of transportation. Yet, we tend to overlook the importance of busses and their drivers.

In order to become a bus driver, a person must be at least 18 and not older than 64 years old. Also, they must take a week-long bus driving course. This training program was started about two years ago to improve the quality and safety on school busses. After completing the county's course a person may become a substitute driver before being assigned a regular route.

Just like the students at McEachern, the bus drivers have rules to follow. Many of the rules they follow are similar to students' rules. Their dress code is like the students' dress code; they are not permitted to wear shorts or tops with spaghetti straps. They are also required periodically to attend safety meetings. These meetings are mandatory for the drivers. An absence can result in job termination or non-renewal of employment.

Benefits for bus drivers are quite good. They receive thirteen sick-leave days and vacations with pay. Most bus drivers say that driving school children is a very good part-time job.

Bus drivers must be more than just a figure behind the wheel. Often they must be a friend, a counselor, or even a teacher. They usually end up talking to the students about the students' problems. As a result of the enjoyable interaction with young people, bus drivers say they "really love their jobs."

Teachers meet to plan strategy

Have you ever wondered exactly what our teachers do in their so-called "faculty meetings"? Do the teachers work diligently planning for our education, or do they party with coffee and doughnuts?

Actually, according to those who know, the faculty meetings are strictly business, which avoids unnecessary time being wasted, and are always mandatory. The meetings are not necessarily called at times convenient for teachers, but due to the infrequency of the meetings, every effort is made to be there.

Mr. Williams strives to get the faculty motivated. McEachern's faculty is student oriented and is hardworking. He makes the meetings tolerable for the teachers by acting quickly, efficiently, and directly and by occasionally providing the "refreshments."

Teachers have many concerns to deal with in meetings, from the pre-planning strategy sessions to detailed instructions on filling out Federal forms. In faculty meetings teachers make certain that everyone is approaching students in the same way and that potential problems are averted by being informed and aware.

Faculty meetings are unavoidable at any school, but the productive nature of McEachern's meetings gives our faculty a sense of pride and accomplishment.

Cafeteria staff enthusiastically supports students

McEachern's cafeteria staff is one of its most supportive groups. Many times throughout the year one can see these ladies dressed in spirited clothing and apparel. According to Mrs. Murray, head of staff, the ladies enjoy dressing up with the students. She also mentions that by becoming involved, the workers believe that the teams and students will know how much they are behind them.

This year McEachern students saw several examples of the cafeteria staff's spirit. On the day of McEachern's first home game, the staff dressed in the new yellow spirit shirts and small Indian headbands. Another dress-up day occurred during Homecoming Spirit Week. On Senior Mourning Day the ladies dressed themselves in black, as did the seniors.

On September 26, 1983, Cobb County celebrated its 150th anniversary. The lunchroom staff decorated themselves and the lunchroom with clothing and articles from 150 years ago. They even created chuckwagon doors and served homestyle meals. Just another example of their McEachern-style support!

According to Mrs. Murray, the ladies simply love working with the students. They want it to be known that they are behind McEachern all the way.

3 Student teachers experiment

A student teacher is a person who has gone through an approved education program and lacks only practical experience in the classroom. A student teacher must complete four years of college and maintain a 2.25 G.P.A. He spends the last two of his four years in education taking courses in which he must maintain at least a C average. The last ten weeks of study are spent in the classroom with a certified teacher. In the classroom the student teacher attains in-depth experience in teaching. He gets a chance to plan lessons and implement them. He is also able to interact with both school personnel and students. He is evaluated three times during the quarter by his supervising teacher and his college supervisor. At the end of the ten weeks he is given a grade for his teaching performance. According to Georgia State University, 90-95% of its student teachers go on to a teaching career after graduation.

John Curbow is one of the student teachers at McEachern. His goal is to combine coaching track and football with teaching history because he feels both contribute to the preparation of a youngster. His experiences with his four children have led him to understand the value of structured study at home in addition to study time at school. Currently a student at Georgia State, John looks forward to a career in teaching at the high school level. In addition to teaching and coaching, he enjoys raising horses and German shepherds, hiking and camping.

Kenneth Dowell is another student teacher at McEachern this year. He feels that young people today are more aware of their surroundings and have a better sense of direction, but suffer from a lack of motivation. He hopes to provide his future students with more initiative by utilizing a variety of enjoyable activities in order to prevent them from entering his classroom with a sense of dread. Mr. Dowell plans to teach in Cobb County because of the school district's fine reputation. Kenneth spends his free time with his new wife, playing tennis, and watching sports presentations.

Unique management of funds

Board of Trustees

When the John McEachern Trust Fund was created, a board of trustees was set up in order to distribute and administer the funds. Although the board members distribute the funds, a trust department at the bank decides exactly how much of the funds the school receives each year. Each department submits a request for money, and a budget is set up to decide how much each department then receives. Some examples of items the trust fund has recently financed are: a new bus, parking lot improvements, shrubbery, and the resodding of the football field. McEachern receives county funds in addition to what is received from the trust fund.

The Board of Trustees meets the first Monday of every month in the board room of the principal's home. Members are sometimes recommended for their positions but most often they are appointed by the trust department of the bank. The principal of the school automatically becomes a member of the board. The board consists of five other members besides Mr. Williams. They are Mr. Paul Lovingood, Mr. Walter Cantrell, Mr. Jack Hall, Mr. Alton Keith; Mrs. Betty Welch serves as secretary to the board. Members of the board do not receive salaries for serving on the board; it is considered a voluntary appointment in addition to their full-time positions in the community.

Board members are very interested in the school and can be seen attending many school activities.

The Cobb County Board of Education is comprised of seven members elected county-wide from their posts for four year terms. Terms of office are staggered so that at no time are there seven new members on the board. The Chairman and Vice-chairman of the Board are elected by fellow members each January for one year terms. -

The Board meets at 47 Waddell Street, Marietta, on the second Wednesday of each month at 9:00 a.m., and again on the fourth Thursday at 7:30 p.m. The public is always encouraged to attend general sessions, which are open. To express an opinion, an individual may request to appear before the Board during the thirty minute session that proceeds each meeting. The opinion expressed receives no formal response from the Board. In order to appear "formally" before the Board, one must submit in writing a request to be placed on the agenda. "Visitors" are addressed at the beginning of each meeting and receive a response from the Board at the succeeding meeting.

Dr. Thomas Tocco holds the position of the Superintendent of Cobb County Schools. He assumed his position in July, 1981, coming from the position of Assistant Superintendent for Research, Evaluation, and Data Processing of Pinellas County Schools, Florida.

Dr. Tocco is considered to be the Executive Secretary of the Board of Education. He makes his recommendations for the system to the Board, and the members subsequently vote to accept or reject his proposals. The Board of Education is an integral part of the Cobb County school system and is a major factor in the continuing excellence of the system.

“Nobody sweats the details like Ralph Williams.”

Superintendent, Cobb County Schools

Ralph Williams attended Middle Tennessee State University on an athletic scholarship. He received many athletic letters and earned advanced degrees from the University of Tennessee and West Georgia College. Mr. Williams has taught in Stevenson, Alabama and Lafayette, Georgia, as well as serving as an administrator in Cobb County and Glynn County. He has served as a head football coach and has coached one state championship team, two undefeated teams, and six play-off teams, all of which helped provide him with experience in dealing with extra-curricular activities.

The 1983-84 year is Mr. Williams' second at McEachern and he has high expectations for the school as a whole. Along with the tremendous improvement to the school grounds, Mr. Williams has begun to establish standards that will carry on McEachern's pride for many future generations.

Some of the programs and activities that he has personally supported since his arrival at McEachern have been the school-wide senior assemblies attended by parents, a superlative recognition assembly, faculty participation in graduation ceremonies, the use of the senior courtyard, the monthly newsletter to parents, and, new in 1983-84, covered-dish dinners for the purpose of sharing information with senior parents and a homecoming festival like no other school in Cobb County.

To quote Dr. Thomas Tocco, who described McEachern's recent successes in relation to Mr. Williams' ideas and hard work, “Nobody sweats the details like Ralph Williams.”

Research was done this year to find out which faculty member had been on campus for the most years. Miss Arnold, faculty librarian, won the "prize" since she has been here since September, 1954.

In the spring of 1960, Miss Arnold helped the Beta Club develop their constitution and held the election of officers. She was the sponsor of Beta Club in 1960 and 1961. She was also the sponsor of the student council.

Miss Arnold loves being a librarian. She often takes her work home with her to preview new books and exhibits. Her favorite part of her work is working with print materials.

When asked about the changes the school has been through Miss Arnold answered, "A book wouldn't hold it." She informed the staff that when she first came to McEachern there were approximately 700 students in grades 9-12. When she began at McEachern the library was in an older building located where the flagpole now stands. In April 1967, four library aides and Miss Arnold moved all of the equipment and books in the library to their present location. She also told us that as the student body grows; there is a certain number of books in the library for each student enrolled. In 1954 the number of books was approximately 1000. Now there are approximately 17,200 books.

Miss Arnold also reminisces about the days of the Bookmobile. This was a truck that came every two weeks loaded with books. Miss Arnold often got as many as 400 books at a time. To avoid confusion, these books had to be filed in a separate department.

The state library has always supplied our media center with films and filmstrips.

Since films were not very popular at first, McEachern only owned one projector and one screen. In the early 1970's filmstrips became more popular and now McEachern is well-supplied with projectors and screens.

The number of people visiting the library was much larger in the 1960's than today. This fact might be "blamed" on the advent of the computer era that we are now going through. Miss Arnold said that today students rarely come to the library for pleasure reading. If they come to the library at all, it is for research or required reading, which the librarians are trying to change.

The students and faculty of McEachern thank Miss Arnold for her many years of hard work and dedication that she has shown not only to the library, but to the school itself.

4. Miss Martha Arnold and Mr. Williams enjoy induction of 1983-84 Beta members. 5. Miss Arnold makes special presentation to Betas. 6. Miss Arnold helps student Jeff Hannah do research for assignment.

Martha Arnold: Dedicated to McEachern

Classes ... Who likes them? Students from kindergarten to twelfth grade have been complaining about their classes. Whether these students like it or not, classes are one of the most important parts of high school. From graphing coordinate points in Algebra to dissecting frogs in Biology, students at McEachern are gradually preparing for life as an adult. Extra-curricular activities are important, but the majority of the time spent in high school is used for academic courses. These classes are meant to prepare high school students for life in the "real world," or life at college.

From the time students enter as freshman until they graduate as seniors, the courses they need to take are spelled out for them. These classes are the ones taken for graduation. However, students do get a chance to choose a few of the classes they take, which are called electives. Students are presented with a wide variety of courses and choose two per semester that fit their personality and will prepare them for college and future jobs.

As a senior, one must have at least 21 units to graduate and each year a student can earn six units. The number of units possible as a graduating senior is 24. All students hopefully will complete the necessary requirements for graduation.

Freshmen Class Officers and Sponsors.

Every year a new class comes to McEachern. This class is familiarly known as the freshman class. Freshman are generally enthusiastic toward the new changes in their lifestyle and the different challenges they must face.

They have encountered many new experiences and challenges this year. They have been involved in many activities such as the selling of mums for homecoming. Another activity was the wearing of blue and gold gloves at homecoming; the class had close to 100% participation in this activity.

The freshman class officers have helped carry out the class' enthusiasm by leading their class.

The sponsors of the freshman class, Mr. William Collier and Ms. Patty Craven, have been working hard with them. They have helped considerably this year in the many efforts to succeed at McEachern.

The freshman class officers are: President, Paula Brooks; Vice-President, Tracey Austin; Secretary, Tracey Gantt; and Treasurer, Debbie Walker.

Freshmen jokes

A favorite old joke, "Kick me I'm a Freshmen."

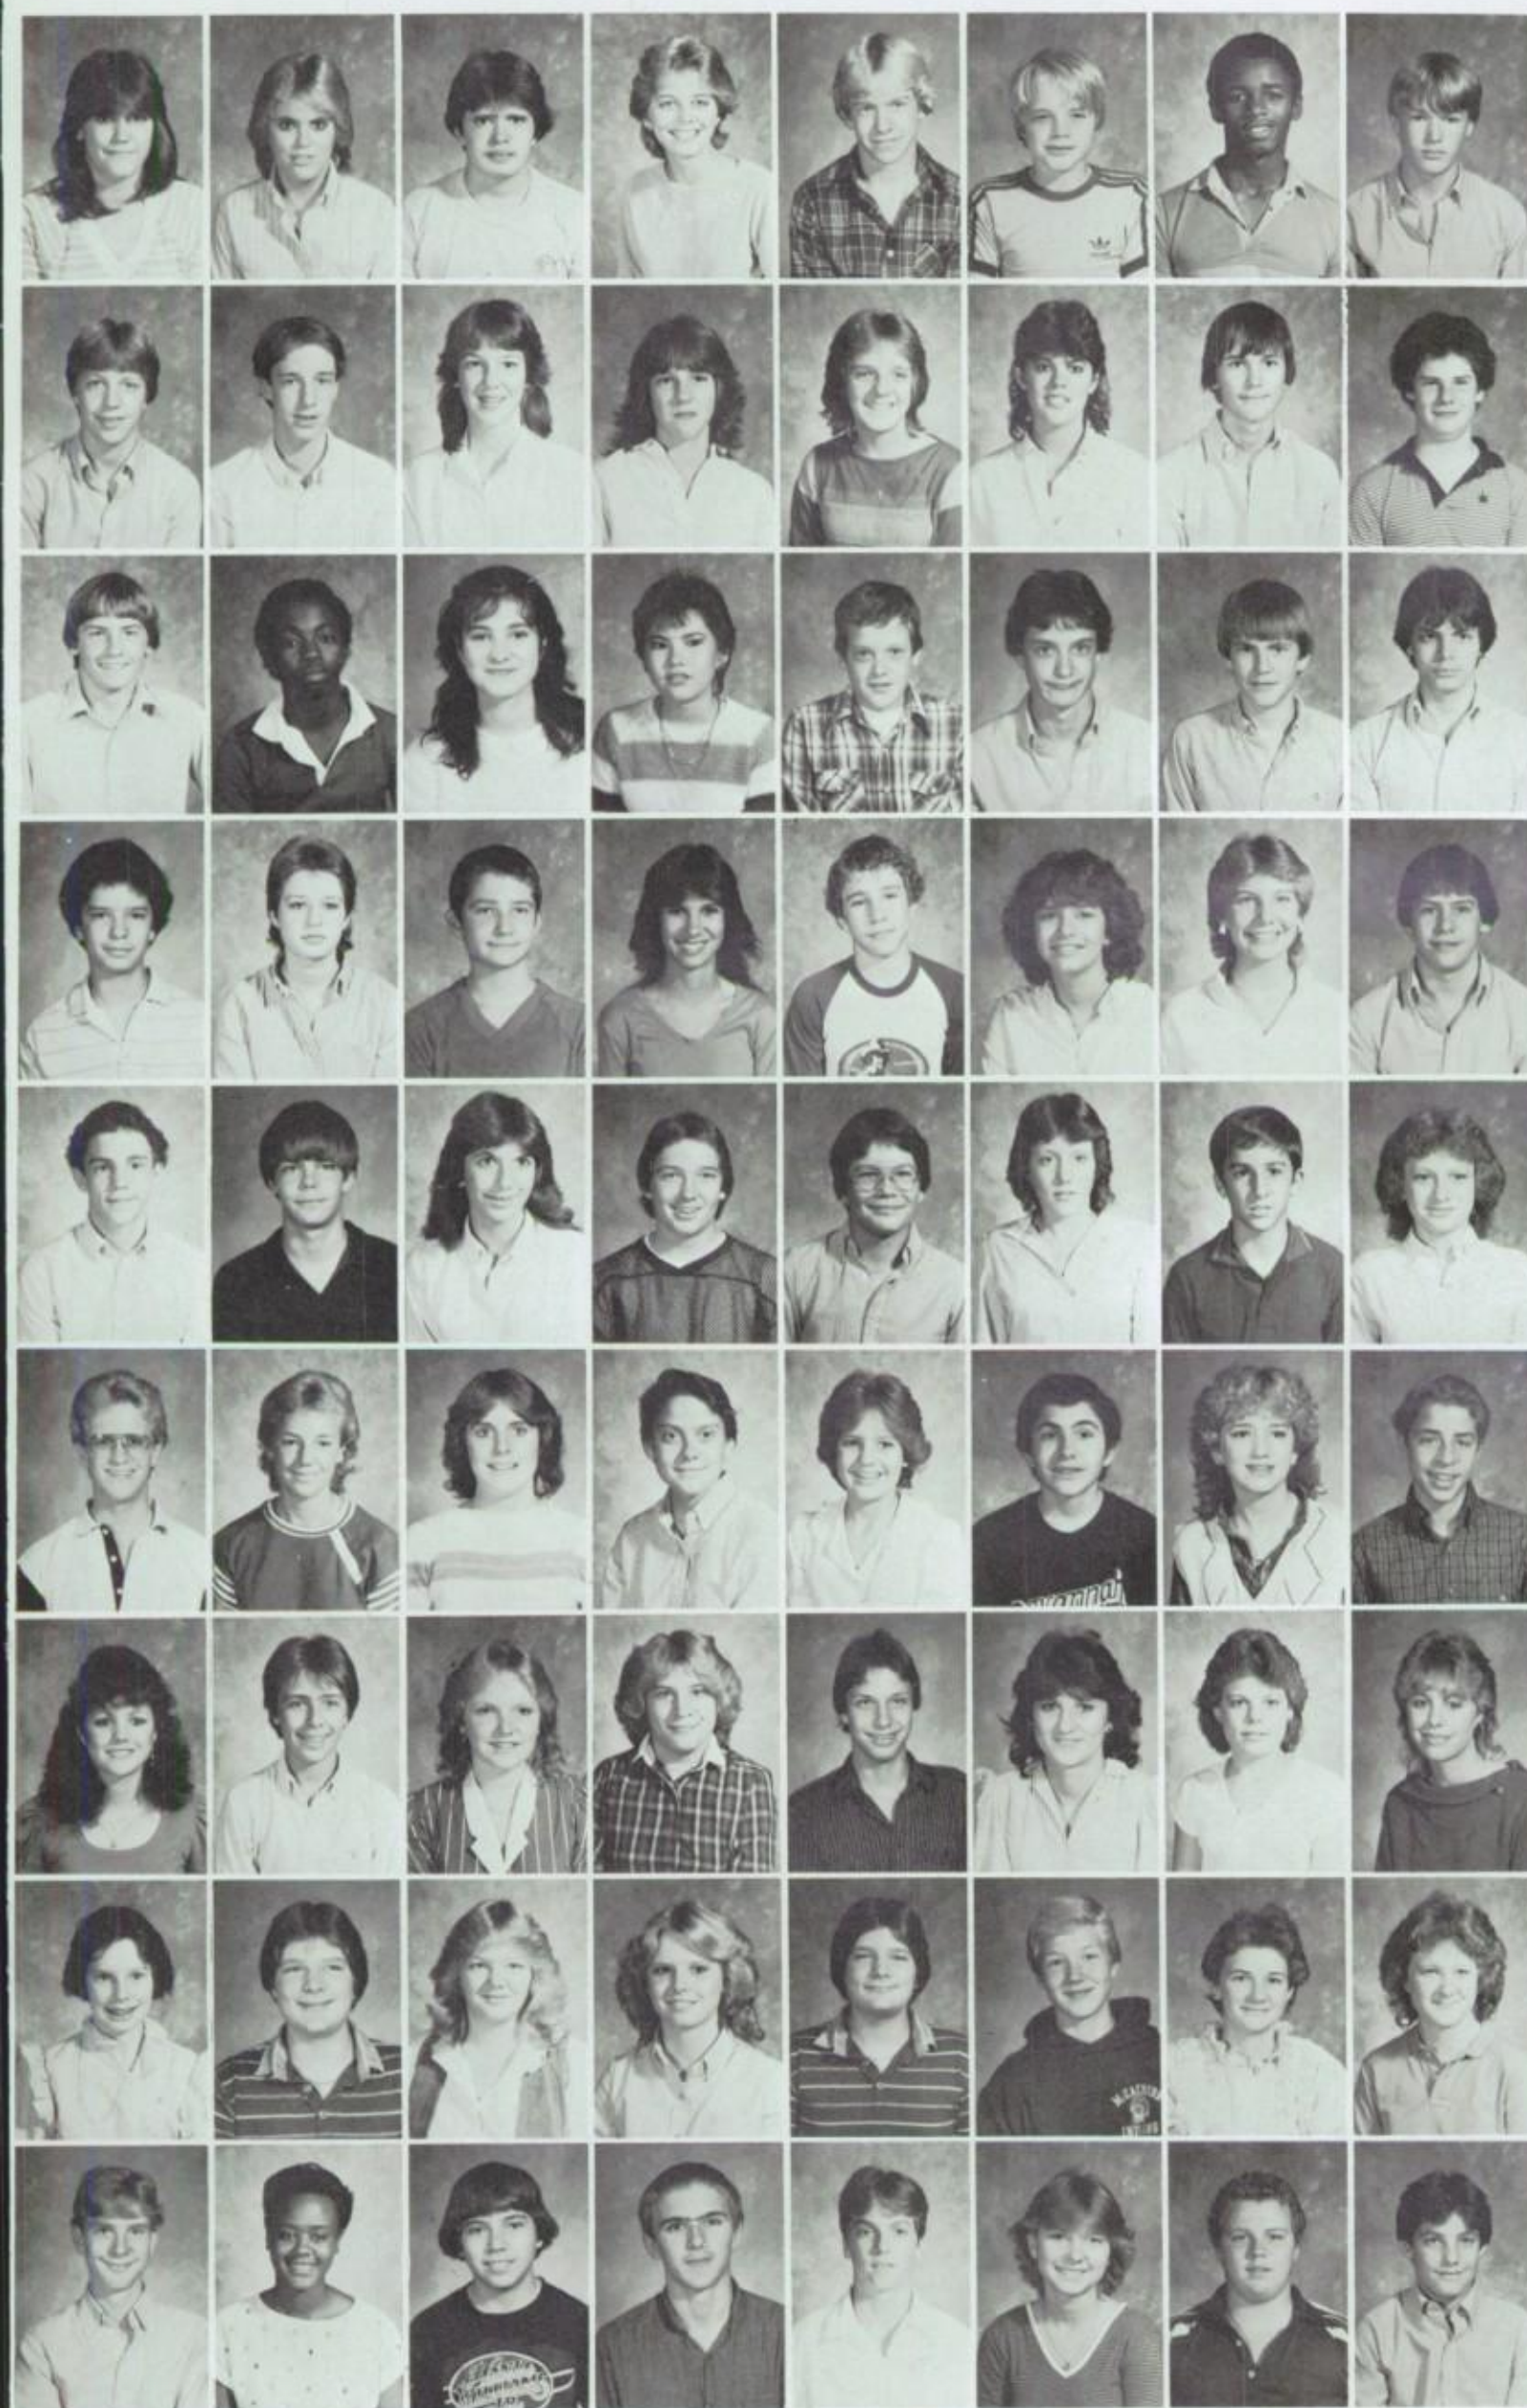

... the elevator in Russell Hall? There isn't one; except, maybe, in the minds of some crafty McEachern students. Over the years, a favorite pastime has developed at our school—the playing of tricks on members of the freshman class. The fibs told and jokes played usually do not last any longer than the first six weeks of the school year; however, they are bold and long lasting.

One particular ringer which has become a great favorite is the selling of pep rally tickets. Pep rallies are free of charge, but still these ninth graders are continually offered tickets for a "small fee." Even though one might think it is mean to exploit the innocence (unlearnedness? lack of knowledge?) of the Freshmen, but the pranks are meant to be fun and are taken in stride. More recent white lies include the use of the elevator in the New Gym, special Seniors Seats and tables in the cafeteria, and the existence of a swimming pool under the gym floor. An unofficial tradition of freshmen pranks has long been a part of McEachern and will probably last for many more years.

Students are fingerprinted

Though we hope there are no fugitives at McEachern High School, all of its students have had their fingerprints taken. On December 14, 1983, members of the Cobb County Sheriff's Department came to our school and conducted procedures for fingerprinting. The prints were rolled on forms signed by the parents of the students. These forms were then sent home to the parents for safekeeping.

Due to an increase in the number of disappearances of school age children in the past few years, many parents feel that secondary identification may be needed for their child. Fingerprinting is one of the most accurate forms of I.D., and, in the case of an emergency, may be essential.

Hopefully, this event sponsored by Cobb County Schools, will reveal the concern for student safety. Also, it will, most likely, make students take notice, and allow them to become aware of what precautions they can take.

Middle School vs. High

An incoming Freshman must adjust to many changes. When entering McEachern High School, he notices the vast difference between the middle school's enclosed facility and McEachern's open campus. This difference is apparent when the first rain occurs and Freshmen are caught unprepared. The breezeway becomes flooded as does the path to the cafeteria. Unsuspecting ninth graders are often found splashing in these pools of mud and water.

Freshmen not only learned to keep an eye on the weather forecast, but also adjusted to the closed classrooms and locker sharing. At Tapp and Pine Mountain these students spent their class time in pods separated by roll away blackboards and a commons area. They did not enjoy the privilege of having a storage area for their personal belongings.

Freshmen are also faced with more responsibility than they had at middle school. Teachers are not as lenient about coming to class unprepared. The grade given in high school for late assignments is often lowered, rather than a second chance given, as in middle school. A freshman soon learns that if he is late to class he will have to stay break. Freshmen soon learn that these obligations are not to be taken lightly.

With added responsibility come added freedom. Students can choose from a variety of activities on campus. There are many clubs for a student to join. For the more athletically inclined there are many sports in which they can become involved. The band and the chorus provide the student with an opportunity to express himself musically. Many freshmen find it hard to decide which activity they would enjoy.

As the freshmen end their first year of high school, many changes have taken place in their lives. They have learned about having an open campus and having classes in more than one building. Many have accepted the responsibility of having their work and materials in class and keeping up their grades. The freshmen have learned that high school is a time in their lives in which they can have fun yet they must accept many new challenges ahead of them.

Leaders of the sophomore class

1. Sophomore officers & sponsors

The 1983-84 Sophomore class was unique. Much of the support which makes up the McEachern effort came from these loyal students. Great leadership and motivation came from the students that the tenth-graders chose to represent them. The president of the sophomore class was Randy Sailors; the vice-president, Jeff Lee. The class secretary was Crystal Earwood, and the treasurer was Jenny Thomas. These officers supported the sophomores through a good year and helped in many activities. Some of their activities included the decoration of the New Gym's lobby doors and the operation of the jail and the basketball toss at the 50th Anniversary Celebration. This second year at McEachern was a year without as many shocks as the first delivered for the sophomores. They can enter the next school year, their junior year, with the feeling of adjustment they will need. The sophomore class was helped greatly by their sponsors, Mr. Reynolds and Mr. Protteau, and much thanks goes out to them.

Getting a license

Getting your license is one of the highlights that takes place during those exciting years of high school life.

When you drive with an adult, you tend to be a little more controlled behind the wheel, after all if you scare Mom and Dad too bad, you may never get your "real license".

But, eventually, the big day comes when you are alone in the car, and while some novice drivers develop weak knees, others increase the lead in their feet. Getting a license not only symbolizes freedom, it also brings on responsibility. Responsibility must be taken for one's own actions and, unfortunately for the actions of others. The reason for this is that, even though you might be able to control your car, others might not be in control of their car. Because of this, there are problems for the young driver connected with insurance, car repairs, and accidents.

Sophomores show need for improvement

The main purpose of study hall is to give extra time to students who are failing one or more classes. This extra time is devoted to study or make-up work in other subjects. A student is assigned to study hall if he or she has an "F" at mid-term. A student who is in a study hall must have all assignments from every class. The students work all period on these assignments until they are completed. If they do not have these assignments, they cannot go get them; the teacher will provide them with something to do. Discipline in study hall is strict. Students are assigned to seats, and they cannot leave those seats nor are they allowed to get up at any time during the period.

In its second year of implementation at McEachern, study hall has proven to be a valuable aid to students in that it encourages them to complete assignments which in turn helps to raise the affected grade.

Students get help with special education

The knowledge and skills acquired from the instruction of teachers and through the study of students lasts a lifetime. This means that every person needs an education to handle the problems of life. Children who have characteristics that make them different have a right to an education that is not limited because of their differences from average students. There are confident teachers at McEachern who are proving the fact that education should not be limited. McEachern's special education teachers are Ms. Charles, Ms. Crittenden, Ms. Darnell, Ms. Pharr, Mr. Dorsey, Ms. Englander, Mr. Jetmore, Ms. Sexton, and Mr. Eggleston. These teachers are helping unique and exceptional students to develop and train their minds, as well as their character and capabilities. The teachers also instruct students in the learning process, problems, and other matters related to the classroom. In this way, students receive formal schooling that will last a lifetime.

Special education extends to a wide range of students. McEachern offers classes for gifted as well as learning-disabled students. Our campus is the home for students with visual and hearing problems which must be overcome. Some teachers offer assistance to the student placed in an average class, while other teachers coordinate a student's vocational education with his academic progress. All special education teachers have one main priority—helping students learn to function to the height of their abilities.

Students learn to work individually with special assistance.

GBST encourages students to learn

1. Sophomore Crystal Earwood concentrates on GBST.

The Georgia Basic Skills Test (GBST) is of utmost importance to each and every student. This comprehensive examination determines whether or not one will graduate with a diploma or with a slip of paper stating that one has attended high school. In order to pass the test, the student must score 300 points on the English section and 300 points on the math section. This test is taken in the spring of one's sophomore year and takes approximately six hours to complete. If one should fail his first attempt there is no need to fear. The student will be able to take the test five additional times during the next two years. Instituted by the state legislature, the GBST attempts to insure that all Georgia graduates will be able to perform minimal skills in math and English.

Class of 1986

The junior officers this year have been very busy planning a variety of activities. They have been working on projects such as the prom and the flea market at homecoming.

This year, instead of having one president, the junior class elected co-presidents. Tim Smith and Kelly Brown have been working hard together sharing the responsibilities of being president.

The junior class officers are: Co Presidents: Tim Smith/Kelly Brown, Vice President: Tammy Belcher, Secretary: Shana Gammon, Treasurer: Reba Cook.

The junior class sponsors have been a big help to the junior class. Together with the students, they have achieved very much in this their second year of sponsoring the class of '85.

Every year, McEachern annual staff sponsors the elections for class favorites. This year's class favorites were introduced at a school wide assembly. The junior class experienced their third year of voting for their favorite boy and girl. The winners for 1983-84 were Deedra Watts and Angelo Rush.

One of the most memorable events of student's life is receiving one's class ring. The ring is a symbol representing many years of hard work! The jewelry arrived on December 20th. There was much excitement built up in the juniors that were to get their rings that day.

There are many decisions to make in choosing a ring. It is much more complicated than one might think. The first obstacle is deciding on the style of the ring, because there are many different types available. This year's styles include the following: the traditional, the signet, the contemporary classics, and the Jonathan West collection.

Another decision to make is choosing the type of metal to be used. One kind often selected is the celestium; however, the 10 and 14 karat metals are chosen most frequently. Other metals include Midas Touch, the Golden Saddle, and the Quasar Plus. Students must also decide on the stone they want. There are 12 stones and 5 different stone cuts from which to choose. Along with the selection of the stone students might also want a stone decoration, of which there are many designs. The final decision is the design on the side of the ring. There are many choices which can indicate interests, activities, zodiac signs, personal traits, clubs, sports, and a long list of others.

The student class ring is not just a piece of simple jewelry. It is a symbol of pride in one's school and displays loyalty that will last a long, long time.

The different styles that the junior students of McEachern possess range from one extreme to the other. Looking around one might see a "good ol' country boy" standing next to a total "new waver." No longer are the students afraid to dress differently from one another. Yes, the juniors are using their clothes to express their individuality. They have them all: new wavers, preppies, heavy metal kids, and, of course, the "good ol'

boys."

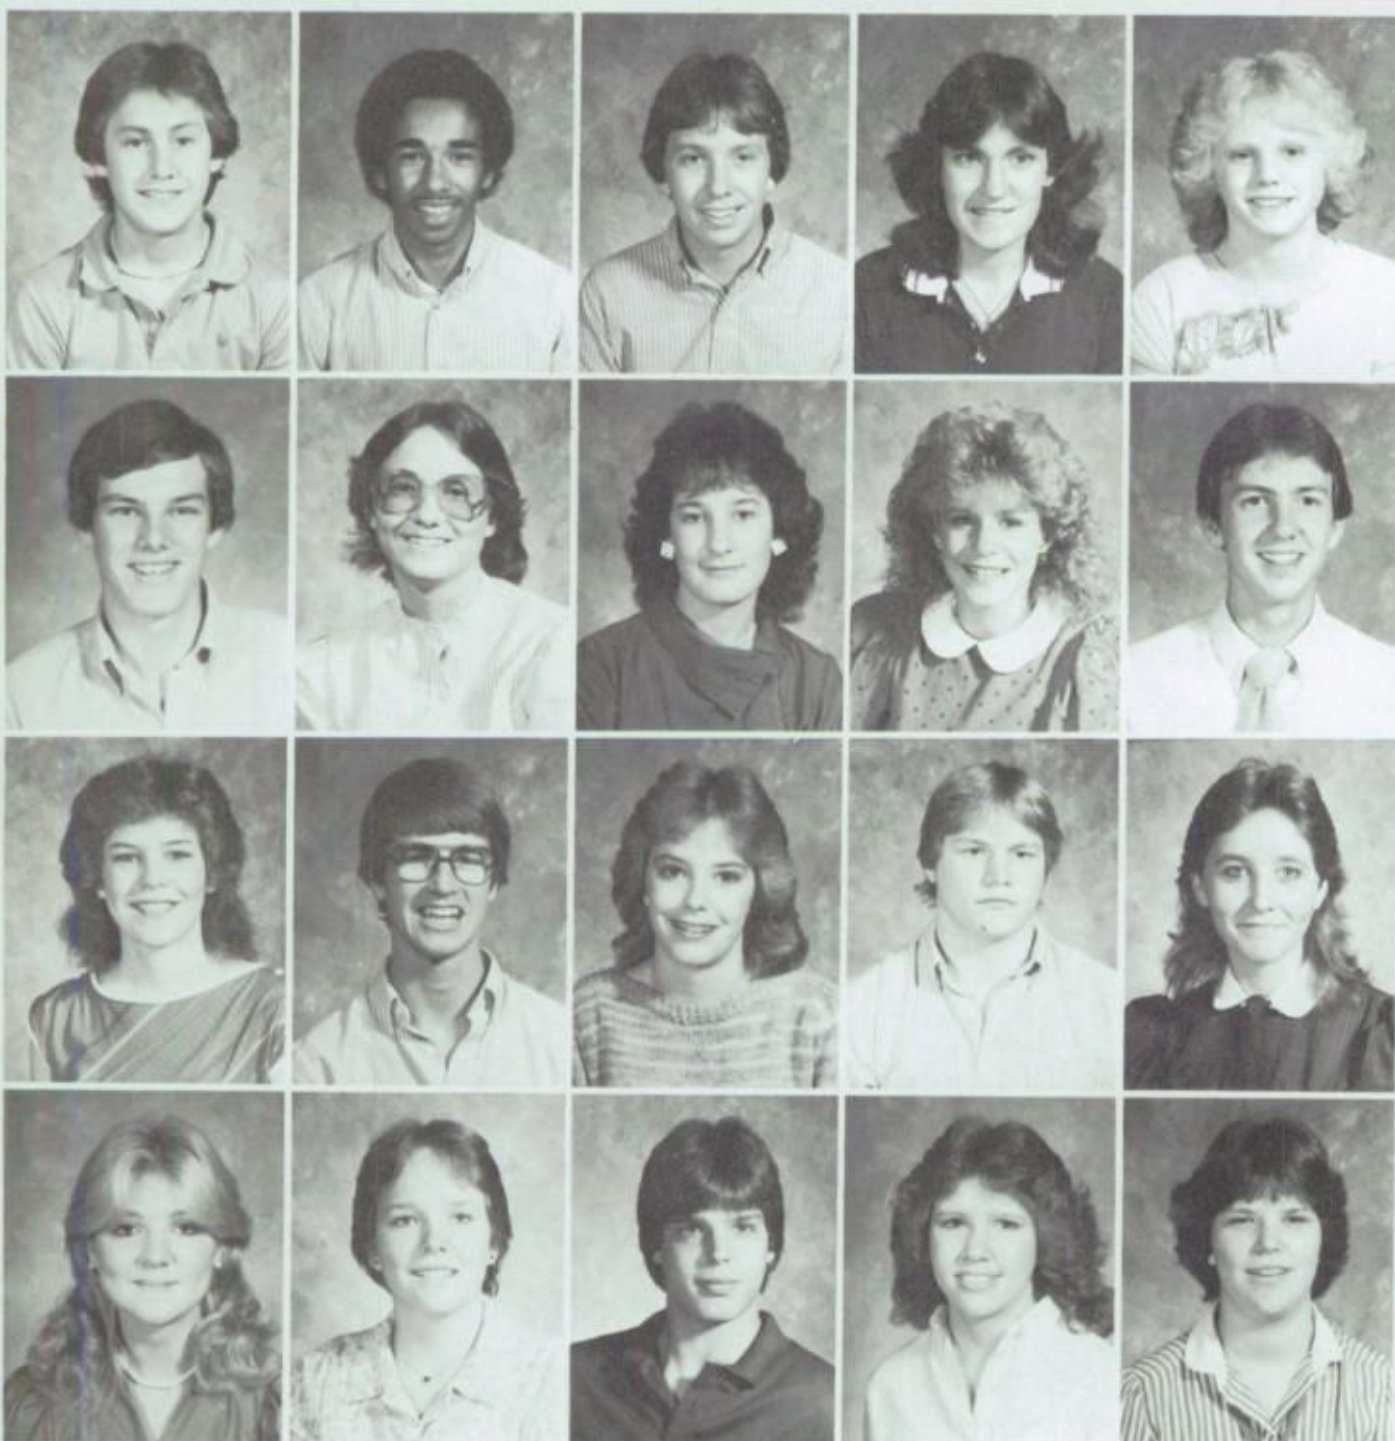

"New Wavers" are very easy to spot on campus. They are the students with their hair standing up on their heads, the spiked belts, strange clothing, and a couple of big, gaudy earrings. They are the students who truly dare to be different. The preppies can usually be found in a pair of khakis, three or four shirts, and most likely any shoes made by Bass. They uphold a good, clean-cut image. The heavy metal kids are the ones with the black concert t-shirts and old, ragged jeans. These are the kids who would gladly miss school if it meant standing in line for some "Ozzy" tickets. Finally, there are the "good ol' country boys." It's hard to miss them in their jeans, flannel shirts, and the inevitable hat ring around their heads.

Undoubtedly, the juniors have many interesting styles among their classmates.

The Junior-Senior Prom is a very special occasion for any school. McEachern's prom has been in past years a big success with high attendance. This year's 1983-84 prom is to be held in McEachern's new gym. The money the juniors have obtained through fund-raising and prom invitations will be put towards hiring an interior decorator to renovate the gym and create a suitable atmosphere, the placing of benches, flowers, and lights around campus to lend a more romantic air, and serving catered breakfast at the close of the dance. Valid reasoning and time consuming thought has prompted the decision of holding the prom in the gym. There were concerns for students' safety, and with lower expenses involved, prom attendance is expected to be higher than ever.

As the 1984 senior class graduates, some very important people will follow in their footsteps the Senior class of 1985. There are many decisions to make prior to and during the senior year, such as squeezing in remaining required courses, deciding on other courses that will benefit future careers, checking out colleges, worrying about S.A.T. scores, scholarships, and grade point averages, and occasionally worrying about passing an important class. Yes, this year's juniors have quite a task before them, but McEachern's pride and spirit will help make the task a little easier and a great deal more satisfying.

Juniors look forward to the Senior Courtyard.

One-Act Play

"The Happy Journey" was the title of McEachern's one-act play in 1983. It was performed by students from our school in a county competition on December 10th. The actors and actresses practiced their performances after school, and then put on the play for three English classes as practice for the competition.

"The Happy Journey" is the story of a family going on a trip to see their oldest daughter. The daughter has just arrived home from the hospital after having a miscarriage. The players included Allen Edwards as "Pa" and Janet Hartup as
"Ma". "Beulah" was played by Mitzi Keesee,
"Arthur" by Shawn Grinstead, and Jessica Nettles filled the role of "Caroline".

The play was directed by Mr. Farr. The assistant director was Mrs. Crittenden, and the stage manager was Linda Cashin.

Allen Edwards, Janet Hartup, Shawn Grinstead, and Jessica Nettles perform in "The Happy Journey."

Class of 1985

Superlative Seniors . . .

When one hears the expression, "superlative," he usually pictures a person who happens to be a favorite in high school. But the term goes much deeper than the obvious meaning. Yes, that person is generally a favorite, but he can also be said to have excelled, to have gone on above the rest. Even though the sixteen chosen superlatives of 1984 are listed by distinct categories, they are not there simply for the way they dressed or how well they played a sport. These people were chosen by their friends and those who looked up to them on the basis of their individuality and what they each represent to us all. A person is noticed for many and varied reasons; maybe it is an encouraging smile or the way he made you laugh. These are the qualities we seniors shall remember about the superlative winners and all the others with whom we have spent these past few, short years. Never again will we live this particular season of our lives, and in the years to come, when we look back, it will be important to recognize our years at McEachern for what they were and to remember that we did our best to live up to them.

. . . McEachern's Finest

The superlative nominees for the Class of 1984 are:

Steve Abernathy, Emily Adams, Piper Adams, Todd Alley, Tim Brown, Misty Cannon, Mark Carpenter, Scott Chambley,

Class Officers and Sponsors

The 50th graduating class has many responsibilities to fulfill; to make this job a little easier, an exceptional group of seniors were elected as class officers. They included Michelle Hood, reporter; Melissa Ne-caise, treasurer; Beth Lyon, secretary; David Guyton, vice-president; Adrienne Greene, president with sponsors, Ms. Juanita Collum and Ms. Karen Goodell. These individuals carried out the tasks of choosing caps, gowns and announcements, as well as planning assemblies and organizing graduation exercises. They, however, have succeeded in adding a whole new twist to such plans, choosing graduation gowns that will be white for the girls and navy for the boys. Ms. Collum and Ms. Goodell, working with the officers, felt a need to get closer to the Senior class and their parents in order to better acquaint them with the responsibilities and costs of being a senior and senior parent. This was accomplished through their organization of the Senior Covered-Dish Dinner. Another major change brought on by the officers and their sponsors was the decision that the graduating seniors will also be allowed to sit with their special friends during graduation exercises in order to share this last experience together. A special thanks to these officers and sponsors for their effort, dedication, and willingness to help and especially to Ms. Adrienne Greene who has served the Class of '84 continually and without fail through these four years of memory-filled high school experiences.

Senior Traditions

One of the most exciting aspects to being a Senior is all the traditions that go along with the year. During Spirit Week a day is set aside for Senior Mourning Day; a day Seniors "mourn" their last year by dressing in black and having a mock funeral in front of Russell Hall. A tradition among the football players is to give each senior cheerleader a carnation during the last pep rally in order to show their appreciation for them. And of course with each Senior class comes the purchasing of the senior keys, memory books, and graduation announcements. Probably the most fun of all traditional senior activities is Kid's Day, a day set aside for Seniors to dress as children to relive fond memories of their youth. A newly established tradition for Seniors that began last year is the candlelight ceremony where the Seniors turn their valued position over to the Junior class.

Superlative elections, a tradition in which outstanding Seniors are honored, are held every year to choose such favorites as

Mr. and Miss McEachern, Most Likely to Succeed, and Wittiest, just to name a few. But the most memorable of all our many traditions is Graduation, the time when we must finally say good-bye to McEachern High School and prepare to take further steps out there on our own.

The Senior year is a time of special honor. The Senior Appreciation assembly held in the Fall of '83 exemplified this special time. During this assembly each senior was introduced as he walked across the stage. The graduating class of 1984 entered on the day of its assembly to the theme of "Flashdance". Mr. Williams expressed everyone's sentiments when he addressed the parents and student body and stated how hard each senior worked to achieve his/her ambitions as they prepared themselves for their future goals. This assembly acted as a great "kickoff" for the exciting year ahead. At the close of the ceremony all seniors were dismissed for the day, with many choosing to go out for lunch. The most popular places were Red Lobster, The Sirloin, and restaurants at the Galleria. The Senior Appreciation Assembly, as the newest tradition, helps the senior feel important, more involved as a group, and adds excitement to their most memorable year of high school.

Senior Girls are on top

This year Homecoming was especially important for the Seniors of 1983-84. Being their last Homecoming here at McEachern, Seniors chose their Homecoming representatives with special care. The first step toward the decision of the Senior court was nominations. Each Senior nominated a girl they felt should represent the class of '84. Girls were elected because of their outstanding personalities, appearance, and class involvement. The six representatives finally chosen were girls of which the entire class could be proud: Beth Houser, Denisa Killingsworth, DeAnn Little, Connie Lovin, Pat Nordholz and Colette Taylor. This year the girls on court not only had outward beauty, but each had inner qualities which made them an extra special group. Saturday, October 15, was a day that not only the Homecoming representatives will always remember, but one each Senior will hold as a special highlight and memory of his last year at McEachern.

The excitement of being a senior

Senior! This word means so much to many of us. It represents prestige, position, decisions, maturity, and an overall good feeling of growing older and feeling comfortable with the people, the school, and our surroundings. The class of 1984 did much to prove their excitement by winning all of the spirit contests throughout the week of Homecoming and dominating several other pep rallies. Seniors anxiously await and look forward to many different occasions. The Senior appreciation assembly in the fall brings honor to all seniors. They also look forward to Senior Mourning Day, portraits, Kid's Day, and the passing down of seats to the Juniors during the candlelight service in the spring. Baccalaureate and graduation are discussed and anticipated by each senior throughout the year. Graduation is the final step in completing the twelve years of hard work and dedication, and as a reward many seniors plan senior trips to Daytona, Panama City, and other popular vacation spots in which seniors feel a part. The senior year is definitely a year each graduate will always remember because of the activities and privileges it holds.

Seniors are Hot

Seniors at McEachern are not only "hot" in sports and activities, but stay warm all winter wearing the ever popular letter jackets. Several styles of letter jackets are popular, but a common aspect of all is the "letter" itself. Varsity athletes, along with students involved in other major activities, are awarded letters once the season is completed. Bars, awarded for each additional year in the activity, and medals won in competition, are often seen covering and sometimes weighing down the letters of upperclassmen. The sport or activity in which the student participates is abbreviated on one sleeve, but more important is the year of graduation displayed on the opposite sleeve. Seniors at McEachern are proud to wear '84 on their jackets. Letter jackets, worn by both girls and boys at MHS, are great outlets for showing pride in ourselves, our teams, and most of all in our school

Senior band

McEachern High School can certainly be very proud of their award-winning marching band. It is not simply a group of students, but instead a collection of very talented and determined people who establish a goal and then succeed in meeting it. This is demonstrated at every field performance and competition. This year's Senior band members are not the exception, they are the rule. Most have been involved with band throughout high school but many also have participated for as long as seven years. The work is undeniably hard with practices every day during marching season and throughout the summer as well. Drum Major Tim Brown says, "Sometimes it gets where you just want to give up but in the end, it's all worth it." Other Seniors feel the same way. Leah Florence, who is a Flag Captain, sums it all up by saying "While the work and responsibility is tough, I wouldn't trade my three years in Band for anything." Congratulations, Seniors, on a job well done! The Class of 1984 Senior Band members are: Todd Alley, Tim Brown, Doug Cantrell, Jennifer Carlile, Lisa Carroll, Lisa Corn, Elizabeth Dragoone, Kathy Farmer, Leah Florence, Mar-

Seniors plan for the future

When we were children a phrase we would often say was, "When I grow up I want to be . . ." and we would insert a career that sounded glamorous and adventurous. Career choices included a fireman, an astronaut, a nurse, or a teacher. Well, now we are grown up and the phrase that was so laughable as a child is now a major decision in our lives. What do you do when you grow up? Do you go to college; and if so, which one? The University of Georgia, Georgia State University, or some out of state college? Or, do you completely skip college and try to find a job out in the "real world"? Decisions are never easy, and once you have made one, how can you be sure it's the right one? Life never has and never will be easy, and the choice you make must be met with a challenge; a challenge to work and to grow, and a challenge to be proud of.

Clubs at McEachern symbolize a form of freedom. Students are urged to choose two clubs that most interest them and the list to choose from is more than ample. There are a total of fifteen clubs on campus, including Beta Club, Chess Club, Computer Club, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Future Homemakers of America, French Club, God Squad, Latin Club, National Honor Society, Science Club, Spanish Club, Student Council, Vocational Occupational Clubs of America; all clubs meet once a month during first, second, sixth, and seventh periods of the school day and at various times before or after school as decided upon by sponsors, officers, and members. Each club must perform a service project that benefits the school or community in some way and the project must be approved by sponsors and Mr. Williams. Overall, the opportunity to be able to meet with people of the same interests, talents, and beliefs once a month enriches and adds spice to the everyday school routine.

Student Council plays a major role at McEachern. It is a group of students, consisting mostly of homeroom class representatives and club presidents, who gather to discuss students' feelings on issues concerning our school. The council acts as a mediator between students and faculty. Each spring the group organizes a voter registration for the election of Student Council officers for the following school year.

Each year, the members of Student Council work hard to keep lockers in working order. Officers come in August, before school starts and in their own time, to change combinations and inspect all lockers.

1983-84 Student Council officers are: Rhodel Dacanay, president; Michelle Hughes, vice-president; Lisa Carroll, secretary; Jimmy Winton, treasurer; and Leanne Goins, chaplain.

Members are: Tracy Austin, Glenn Barker, Lori Barnett, Tammy Belcher, Paula Brooks, Kelly Brown, Lesley Burge, Susan Chvatal, Reba Cook, Inga Earl, Crystal Earwood, Rhonda Eidson, Leah Florence, Shanna Gammon, Tracy Gantt, Adrienne Greene, David Guyton, Michelle Hood, Amy Keesee, Jeff Kramer, Jeff Lee, Beth Lyon, Patricia Meurrens, Chris Moss, Melissa Necaise, Randy Sailors, Tim Smith, Connie Vann, Debbie Walker, Dexter Watts, and Jennie Wilkins.

The National Honor Society is an honor organization which is made up of those juniors and seniors who maintain a grade point average of 3.7 or above. Members are inducted during their junior year in time to take part in the many activities in the N.H.S. involves itself.

N.H.S. is responsible for messages appearing on the school marquee and participates in graduation by serving as ushers. N.H.S. members have regular meetings with occasional "nourishment," and in the past years the club has held an annual ice cream party; on one special day members have apples delivered to all the teachers on campus. The sponsor for N.H.S. is Mrs. Pam Fleming, who helps provide a congenial atmosphere for the hardworking dedicated members.

National Honor Society Members for the 1983-84 year are Lori Barnett, president; Rhodel Dacanay, vice-president; Tammy Wallace, secretary; Michelle Hood, treasurer; Michelle Hughes, historian; Melissa Williamson, reporter, Misty Cannon, Sabrina Daniel, Adrienne Green, Darryl Harper, Julie Johnson, and Melissa Necaie.

"I love Beta. It is more than just a club, it's friends. Beta is a group of people who share similar ideals and goals for what they feel is right for them. They are people who care and that's something we can really use, now and always," says Julie Fortenberry, Beta club's secretary.

Julie's sentiments express how many Beta club members feel about their club. Students are invited to join the club if they have earned a 3.5 average. Freshman, however, are not allowed to join the club. They are given a year to prove themselves academically.

Throughout the year, Beta club sponsors many service projects. They hold two blood drives per school year, one in the fall and another one in the spring. Any person, including students, can donate blood if they are 17 or older and weigh at least 110 pounds. In the fall, Beta club collected 142 pints of blood. This gift of life was much appreciated by the Red Cross. Beta club also collects food for the needy during Thanksgiving. The food is donated to the Red Cross and is distributed throughout the metro Atlanta area.

Beta club officers are: Michelle Hughes, president; Byron Rogers, vice-president; Julie Fortenberry, secretary; Michelle Hood, treasurer; and Jenny Lynn, reporter. Executive committee members are: Glenn Barker, Rhodel Dacanay, Cindy Little, Charlie Morrison, and Melissa Williamson.

Club members include: Piper Adams, Lori Barnett, Tracy Boatright, Misty Cannon, Lisa Corn, Nadja Cotter, Sabrina Daniel, Debbie Davis, Terri Donaldson, Denise Dromo, Leah Florence, Dwayne Freels, Adrienne Greene, Darryl Harper, Pam Henry, Julie Johnson, Beth Koose, Jeff Martin, Dena Mobley, Teresa Moore, Chris Moss, Melissa Necaie, Colette Taylor, Tammy Wallace, Don Ayers, Keith Buice, Lisa Caucci, Kelly Caudle, Terry Cook, Redante Dacanay, Dorene Damiano, Richard Fortenberry, Shana Gammon, Jowell Hanz, Jeff Hendricks, Jon Hutson, Terry Lively, Jerry Maggio, Karen McBride, Kelly McCloud, Greg Rainwater, Jill Ross, Janet Russell, Anna Ryan, Jerri Shipp, Michelle Souther, Jeff Turner, Chuck West, Roger White, Jimmy Winton, Tim Vickery, Jennifer Carlile, Jamie Banks, Ginny Barton, Tauna Bennett, Kelly Buice, Kelly Butler, Kerry Cannon, Nicole Caucci, Keith Cline, Chad Coleman, Rhoderick Dacanay, Danny Dougherty, Carol Douglas, Michelle Etheridge, Mark Freeman, Leigh Gamel, Amy Goins, Tony Gragg, Kim Greene, Ginger Hill, Mike Hood, Lari Hullender, Tracy Moore,

Life after high school or college, where one must face the working world, is not always easy. However, a background in business or related activities can often ease the shock. One such way to gain this background is through the FBLA. Future Business Leaders of America is a youth organization which promotes leadership in high school students. Members of FBLA participate in academics in a business-life atmosphere. McEachern's chapter of the club had a very good year. Some of its community service projects included participating in a stair climb for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation and selling tickets at Homecoming.

The officers of the 1983-84 FBLA included Jennie Wilkins as president. The vice-president was Allen Omalacy, while Brenda Bradley was secretary. Valerie Ezzard was treasurer and Deborah Fox was reporter. This year's FBLA was sponsored by Mr. Dennis Willis.

F.H.A. prepares for the future

The Future Homemakers of America is a club designed to prepare students for caring for a family and a home. Their services include cooking and preparing meals and such for teachers and special on-campus meetings. They have also entertained various other members of the community during the holidays. The club plans a teachers' meeting for breakfast each year in honor of all the faculty at McEachern. For their service project, F.H.A. members visited the Autumn Breeze nursing home on December 19th.

The officers for this year's F.H.A. were Susan Chvatal, president; Missy Caputi, vice-president; Stephanie Leonard, secretary; Karen Fite, treasurer; and, Christine Mapstone, program chairman.

The members of the 1983-84 F.H.A. were as follows: Christy Abrams, Kim Armstrong, Missy Caputi, Susan Chvatal, Kathy Curtis, Kelly Ellsberry, Jennifer Fortenberry, Karen Fite, Michelle Gamble, Dominique Garvin, Stephanie Graham, Sylvia Hamby, Michelle Kirby, Stephanie Leonard, Christine Mapstone, Mitzi Meaders, Susan Payne, Tonya Puett, Sandra Stallings, Susan Stallings, Cindi Still, Christi Still, Leah Trucks, Michelle Walraven, Susan Welch, Terrie Wheeler, Rosalind White, Chanta Wiley.

VOCA provides opportunities

The Vocational Opportunities Clubs of America (VOCA) is the youth club of the Coordinate Vocational Academic Education program. The purpose of VOCA is to develop leadership abilities through participation in education, vocational, civic, recreational, and social activities; to develop the ability of students to plan together, organize and carry out worthy activities and projects; and to enhance the feeling of self esteem among its club members.

VOCA has many purposes to its club. VOCA unites in common bond students in Coordinated Academic Educational Programs. VOCA helps students to attain a purpose in life by establishing realistic vocational and academic goals and to develop a respect for the dignity of work.

The sponsor for VOCA is Ms. Nancy Hill. VOCA's officers are: president, Mary Anderson; vice-president, Charles Dulaney; secretary, Sharon Majors; treasurer, Shelley Cleapor; reporter, Julie Cannon; historian, Rita Taylor and sergeant-at-arms, Rubin Leavelle.

VICA ventures into the industrial world

The Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) gives students the opportunity to learn more about various industrial careers. Some of these fields include cosmetology, auto-body, transportation, and Distributive Cooperative Training (DCT), an occupational training program. The club helps students to build self confidence and to develop a good attitude toward work.

The VICA had a car show in October which doubled as their service project for the year. At the Homecoming festival, VICA took part by having a cake walk.

This years VICA officers are as follows: president, Terri Lester; vice-president, Tim Leonard; secretary, Shelbie Key; treasurer, Sally Farrar; chaplain, Anita Bristol; historian, Steve Ostrander; and reporters; Wendy Earnhart, DeAnn Little, and Donna Noggle. This years VICA sponsor is Mr. Croker.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes is an organization for those people who are involved in sports and share a common belief in Jesus Christ. The total membership of F.C.A. is 218, with 80 boys and 138 girls. There are a total of 22 huddles, with 13 girl huddles and 9 boy huddles. Both girls and boys meet together on club day and each huddle holds either weekly or bi-weekly meetings in members' homes.

During the course of the school year F.C.A. sponsors pie sales for members to earn money for summer Conference and various other planned activities. They also sponsor an F.C.A. banquet and a teachers' appreciation week.

This year F.C.A. was active in the Homecoming Festival. They constructed a go-cart track and held a walk-a-thon to raise money for club sponsored activities throughout the year.

The God Squad meets each month providing fellowship and guidance in Christian principles. This year's club is led by co-presidents, Connie Vann and Hank Arnold, and vice-president, Leanne Goins. These officers plan the meetings and service projects. This year the God Squad sponsored two service projects. The first was the "White Christmas" program, which is held each year right before Christmas. Students are asked to bring food, clothing, and toys for needy families. The club also provides an hour-long program of entertainment for students and faculty to celebrate the Christmas season. The second project started in 1984, included two or three scholarships which will be awarded to deserving graduates of McEachern High School.

At the club's September program, Buddy Leach shared his experiences in the music world. He discussed the abuse of drugs by many present-day musicians including his own use of drugs. In October, Coach Dennis Caryl talked with the club about heroes and hero worship. He stressed Jesus Christ as the real hero of life and encouraged students to have a daily walk with Christ. In November, Bunny Martin displayed his talent with magic and his famous yo-yo. The December meeting brought David Arnold to the club to share his experience in India as a missionary. Other programs were presented by the band, Alternative; Rick Allen; and a band made up of McEachern High School students.

So, as one can see, many different factors show McEachern students that Christ can assist them with their problems, and they in turn show their Christian love on and off campus. The members of the 1983-84 God Squad are

French club has a productive year

The French club is a special organized group which deals primarily with students involved in the French program. Under the sponsorship of Roseanne Brasington, the club participates in various activities throughout the year. Quite often, a particular day is set aside for an event known as "Culture Day". On such a special day students prepare and sample homemade French cuisine. For their service projects, the club sang French Christmas songs at a local nursing home and participated in the March of Dimes Walk-a-Thon. The French club officers are president, Patricia Muerrens; vice-president, Emily Adams; secretary and treasurer, Betsy Downer; reporter, Mia Grinstead. 1983-84 members are Tiffany Adams, Reggie Allen, Andrew Bachman, April Bailey, Traci Brock, Scott Brown, Kelly Cato, Stephanie Collins, Vicki Dovak, Denise Dromo, Daryll Duren, Crystal Earwood, Julie Fortenberry, David Fortney, Leigh Gamel, Angela Gibson, Julie Heckman, Jeff Hendricks, Ginger Hill, Lisa Joines, Mark Kammerdiener, Prissy Kelly, Beth Koose, Bill Lester, Terry Lively, Richie Logan, Missy Mason, Jackie McClure, Wayne McGahee, Debbie Mitchell, Scott Pope, Bill Roberts, Becky Smith, Sonya Stacy, David Stauffer, Jenny Thomas, Joel Tucker, Mark Turner, Cassandra Ware, Chris Weeks, Roger White.

What's happening in Spanish club? Spanish club has been very active this year. During the Homecoming Festival they sold balloons, painted faces, and ran a skeeball machine, making quite a bit of money. They planned a football game against French club, attended a field trip, and organized a cross-cultural dinner with the French and Latin clubs. Spanish club also plans a trip to Spain during the summer. ¡Mucho Pasa! ## Latin club studies Roman culture

Latin club may be for a person who is interested in learning more about the Latin language outside of class. Mrs. Simpson is the sponsor and McEachern's Latin teacher. At the first club meeting, John Hunt, president, suggested many extra-curricular activities for the year. A couple of these ideas included writing to Italy for a list of pen pals and a pizza dinner at Nikki's followed by a party at club member Cindy Little's house. The Latin club planned to hold a Roman Banquet later in the year, club members dress in togas and other Roman attire. To learn more about the Roman culture, they planned to eat food that a person might find in Italy. The Latin club also planned to visit North Cobb to engage in language competitions with students on that campus.

Science club takes a look at the world

The main purpose of this year's Science club was to help students gain more knowledge in that field. The club had a science team for competitions at the county level. This team was started for students who felt they could better themselves in science and do well at the meets. The club planned a competition in Conyers, and competed with other schools in the county and state.

This year the Science club took part in many activities, trips, and service projects. At the Homecoming festival, the organization sponsored the ring toss. Some of their trips included a journey to Cumberland Island, to an engineering seminar, and to a Georgia Tech football game.

This year's president was Glenn Barker and Neal Bolin was the vice-president. The secretary was Kim Scogin; the reporter, Barbara Hodgins, and treasurer, Tim Smith.

The future is gradually focusing toward the computer and computer-related fields. McEachern's Computer club is aimed toward sparking interests and informing students of the uses and occupations in computers and their related technology. This will give students a background for the future.

This was the Computer club's second year, and it came across with great success. The organization tried to invent new games for the computer in which the player tops the score of the machine. That was finalized and used at the Homecoming festival in the club's arcade called "Beat the Computer". A raffle was also held, for a home computer and various other prizes. Plans were made by the club to make a grade-point average program where the students could easily program in their grades and receive their averages.

The officers this year were Norman Henderson, president; Mike Hood, vice-president; Lari Hullender, secretary; and, Sarah McConnell, treasurer. This year's program chairman was Cliff Dogen and the project chairman was David Marlsham. Along with all these, Mr. Gary Smith was the club's sponsor.

The members of the 1983-84 Computer club were as follows: Norman Henderson, Mike Hood, Lari Hullender, Sarah McConnell, David Marlsham, Cliff Dogen, Robin Bryan, Christine Cassidy, Jim Catoe, Clint Cole, Dan Dougherty, David Gillingland, Tara Jones, Robert Kriner, Sharon Mudd, David Lavender, David Leiter, Cheryl Padgett, Brenda Reid, Brett White-side.

The Video club is a club designed to let interested students learn about video equipment, handling it, and using it for practical and fun purposes. An instructional video tape was viewed over the course of several club meetings. It taught how to produce good sound and lighting, what to tape, and how to tape it. Instructional sessions were given in the library during lunch hours to members who wanted to learn how to use a video camera and its equipment. The instruction was part of the club's push to recruit members for videotaping the boys' and girls' basketball games. At the December meeting, an announcement was made of a competition in the area for a seven minute edited tape. The club divided into groups and planned ideas for working voluntarily on two separate parts of the tape. These parts were a small satire and the club's own attempt at a music video. The club's officers are sponsor, Jerry Sparks; president, John Powers; vice-president, Keith Pierce; secretary, Ellenie Carlson; treasurer, Jon Kilpatrick; reporter, Chuck West. Other members are Tim Black, Steve Emmons, Jennifer Fortenberry, Tony Hall, Joe Hill, Ron Hiraoka, Jeff Johnson, Steve Moore, Stephanie Pottier, Glenn Price, Jeff Smith, Tony Taylor, John Williams, Warren Williams.

Chess club makes a positive move

The Chess club is a club devised for students who play or are interested in learning to play the complicated game of chess. The sponsor of Chess club is Mr. Brooks. The president of Chess club is Jeffrey Kramer.

The Chess club's service project was to aid sponsors of the '83-'84 Special Olympics with advertising; they will also teach participants in the Olympics the basics of playing chess. This service project is new to Chess club, yet they are looking forward to a very beneficial day at the Special Olympics.

Throughout the year, the Chess club represents McEachern in local, divisional, and regional tournaments competing against students from other schools. For practice, members hold duel matches among themselves.

The 1983-84 Chess club members are Scott Allen, Shawn Beil, Danny Brown, Thad Brummett, Scott Carroll, Chris Comer, Jeff Hammond, Chris Hammonds, Chris Hancock, Mike Hudson, Bruce Jacobs, Russ Livingston, Gary McIntyre, Clay Monkus, Shendi Moon, Jamie Morris, Tracey Morris, Glenn Price, Valerie Stanford, Alan Watts, Greg Wilkes.

The Academic Bowl is often mistaken for a club. They are not a club, but a team that meets once a week after school for approximately one hour. The co-captains for Academic Bowl are Keith Pierce and Melissa Williamson. Melinda Williamson holds the positions of secretary and treasurer.

A person does not have to be invited to join the Academic Bowl; a roster is made up of all interested students' names, who are then divided into teams. There are two freshmen, two junior varsity, and two varsity teams.

During Academic Bowl meetings members discuss possible matches and answer sample questions for upcoming matches.

The Academic Bowl receives invitations from other schools challenging them to meets. At a meet, a question is read by a moderator and students have a certain amount of time to arrive at an answer. Each team accumulates points for correct answers. The school that scores the most points, wins. A county meet is much conducted very similarly except that there are many other schools participating. These county meets are held in the spring at Roswell Street Baptist Church. McEachern's Academic Bowl always seems to come out on top.

McEachern offers a variety of sports for the many different interests of its students. The athletes are not the only participants in the sporting events at McEachern; fans play an important role also. Autumn sporting events bring the school year to an exciting beginning. The fall sports include football, softball, and cross country. During the winter months, sports at McEachern move indoors with boys' and girls' basketball and wrestling. Spring sports are anxiously awaited by all students and the arrival of these sports enhances the close of the school year. Students have many activities in the spring from which to choose, such as soccer, baseball, track, volleyball, tennis, and golf. Sporting events are an extremely important part of McEachern and are excellent opportunities for displaying pride in our school.

1 The 1983 Varsity Football team showed great improvement this past season under the new head coach, Dennis Caryl. The Indian offense came alive under the direction of offensive back coordinator, David Joiner, with the help of senior quarterback, Lon Thomas; junior tailback, Angelo Rush; and junior fullback, Steve Espy. Another new coach for the Indians, Jeff Brooks, worked very successfully with the senior receivers Billy Hill and Earl Moore. The offensive line was led by Coach Ed Stapp, with outstanding plays by seniors Terry Brown and Phillip Bell. The defense performed well with Coach Bobby Moore as defensive coordinator. Juniors Ron Raper and Tyler Peck, and seniors Jim Turner and Charlie Nordholz contributed to the success of the defense. The defensive line was led by Coach David Eggleston, with Allen Kernodle and Tracy Boatright showing outstanding plays.

There were many highlights throughout the season, the first being the defeat of Paulding County by a score of 13-7. Two games later the Indians pulled through with a big upset over Wheeler, 34-20. The Homecoming football game was one in which the players and fans were exceptionally proud; Wills was handily defeated by 35-14. The Indians worked hard and truly deserved their final 42-3 victory of the season over the Etowah team. The season closed with a 4-6 record which did not give the Indian's justice. The 1983 Varsity football squad was a team that made our school proud.

J.V. Football: Potential at its best

This year's Junior Varsity Squad had a stunning record of 2-5. Under the new leadership of Jeff Brooks, the team struggled their way through the season. Even though the team's record did not show it, they had enormous potential. Throughout the season in each game the Indians were very competitive. Each and every player was "the most valuable," says Coach Brooks.

This year's Freshman Football team had a fairly good season. With the super coaching of Joe Scaffie, the team finished with an even record of 5-5. A strong defeat over North Cobb gave this group of guys a great beginning. The freshman squad members look forward to the further training available to them next year on the junior varsity team, and some members have hopes of being able to play on the varsity squad.

This year's Varsity Softball team had a most exciting season. Led by nine seniors, the girls finished with a 16-7 overall record. They advanced to the regional playoffs for the second straight year. Due to a couple of "bad days", the girls finished the playoffs with a 2-3 record. It was a disappointing finish to most of the girls, but especially so for the seniors. There were strong intentions for winning the region as well as the state playoffs. Kim Turner was named the year's Most Valuable Player; Kandi Porter, "Most Outstanding Offensive Player," and Debbie Richards, "Most Outstanding Defensive Player." Other girls contributed to the team's success, including Sally Farrar, DeAnn Little, Adrienne Greene, Emily Adams, Michelle Hood, Christy Smith and Tina Haradon, who are all graduating seniors. The underclassmen on this year's team are promising a state championship in '84.

J.V. team does a good job

This year's J.V. Softball team was under new coaching from Brenda Carroll, an excellent coach who did a fantastic job with the team. The girls finished 7-3 overall and were 2nd in the county behind North Cobb. Leading the team offensively was Wanda Hicks. Defensively, Freshman, Paula Brooks did a super job. Another player, Freshman Tamara Cummins played a major role as Coach Carroll's utility player. The Varsity team looks forward to using some of this tremendous talent in the hope of becoming first in the county next year.

The 1983 varsity cross country team runs the distance

The 1983 Cross Country team had to rely on the younger members to lead them to a productive, successful season. Jeff Lee, Jeff Hendricks, and Keith Buice helped returning veterans Randy Lester and Rhodel Dacanay form a nucleus of good, solid runners. Randy Lester was the team's number one runner, setting a school record of 18:01 on the 5000 meter course at Al Bishop Complex. The 1983 team finished with an overall record of 11-3 and garnered 7th place in the county.

Soccer team reaches goals

The Varsity Soccer team had a superb season in the spring of 1983. One of the season's highlights was the 7-0 defeat against Paulding County early in the year. The team finished third in the region with a 5-5 record. They worked hard to make their way into the playoffs. The team was led by eight senior players, who helped prove McEachern a more successful team than in past years.

The Junior Varsity soccer team, in the Spring of 1983, was made up of 9th graders along with a few 10th graders. A strong 9-0 defeat over Pebblebrook provided the team with an impressive start to the season. An additional highlight of the season was the 3-0 shut-out of the powerful Douglas County team. The players on 1983's J.V. team have shown great promise and unlimited potential for the future.

5. Coach Ed Stapp instructs the team before a game.
6. David Fortney dribbles the ball during warm up.
7. Norman Schurr and Jerry Maggio enjoy the J.V. game from the stands.
8. Randy Spence, Mark Kennedy and Hank Arnold look on the J.V. game with Coach David Eggleston.

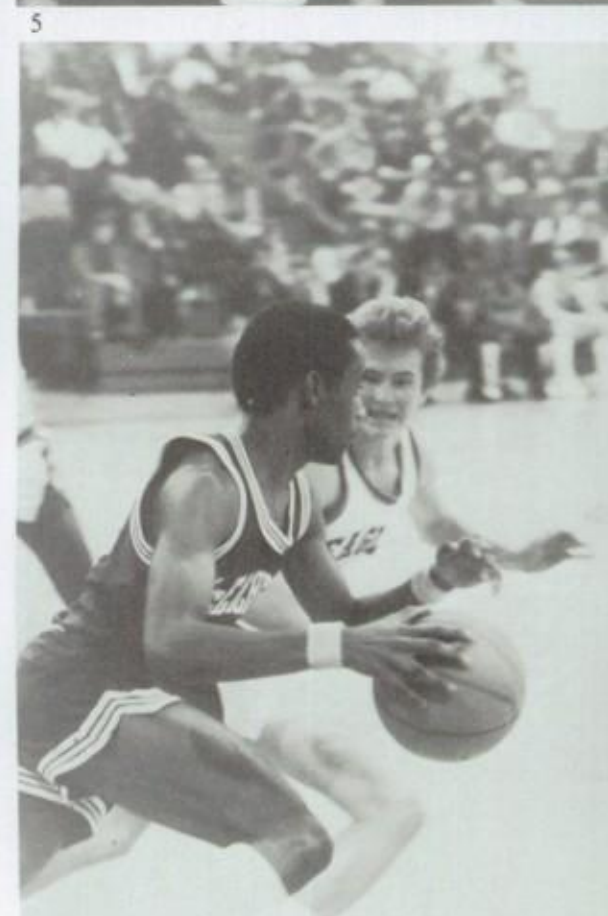

The 1983-84 edition of the McEachern Indians was one of the best basketball teams to play at McEachern in the last decade. After a slow start they began to live up to media expectations and won six of their next eight games. In the Cobb County Tournament the Indians were able to reach the final four for the first time in ten years.

Outstanding performances were turned in by Seniors Branson Harris, Gary King, Bill Hughes, Lon Thomas, and Tony Green; Juniors Jimmy Winton, Billy Garner, and Randy Krogh; and Sophomore Shendi Moon.

Branson Harris and Shendi Moon were honored as Players of the Month by the Cobb Tip-Off Club. Shendi Moon was also named as one of the top twenty underclassmen in the state by the Atlanta Journal-Constitution.

Lady Indians shoot the hoop.

The 1983-1984 Varsity Girls Basketball Team started off this season on a strong note. They were able to successfully defeat Lithia Springs in a tough game. After a losing slump early in the year, they were able to come back into winning with an eight point victory over Paulding County. The team consisted of four seniors and five underclassmen who were all pushing for the starting positions. After this season the rebounding of Susan Turbeville, the shooting of Kim Turner, the strong defensive plays made by Kandi Porter, and the super hustle of Adrienne Greene will be truly missed. Hopefully, next year some of these potential underclassmen will be able to produce a fine season.

6. Sara Wakely runs a play successfully. 7. Coach Wahl tells his team to think! 8. Kim Turner looks for an open girl under the goal. 9. Mandy Knowles aggressively fights off a South Cobb defender. 10. Susan Turbeville runs out while being introduced before a game.

J.V. boys strive for victory.

Under the new coaching of Jeff Brooks the J.V. boys Basketball Team had a season record of 3-12 in 1983-84. Even though the teams record did not show it, this young team did have great potential. Kent Elsberry and Keith Fenton really were an asset to the team with their ability to always be able to come up with the leading scores. Billy Garner was also a great help to the team as the leading rebounder. Two of the season highlights were the defeats of Douglas County 53-40 and Paulding County 30-22. This team will provide some extra talent for next year's Varsity squad.

Coach Eggleston's J.V. girls' basketball team began the season by a well deserved victory over Wheeler. It appeared to be the start of an impressive season in the record part of it. Although the record was not an astonishing one, the girls did show definite improvement. They kept on playing their best throughout the rest of the season. Finally, everything clicked together and the girls ended up winning three of their last five games. After a big victory over Lithia Springs in a tournament, they went on to play Douglas County in a championship game. Even though McEachern was beaten they proved to have improved over the length of the season. Congratulations girls on the vast improvement.

Freshmen teams work hard to win.

Coach Clont's freshmen girls team was one that showed the true meaning of togetherness and dedication. Going into the season, only three girls on the team had previous experience in the sport. To most, this would not seem to be the beginning of an excellent basketball team. The girls proved this to be very wrong. They did not give up when it was getting tough. At times it got to be very frustrating, but they kept working very hard to improve their team. This was a team full of girls with a tremendous amount of dedication and the desire to work hard. Their improvement showed through in the way they beat Pebblebrook. These hard working and dedicated girls will surely be appreciated next year on the J.V. or Varsity teams.

Coach Scaffie possessed a team loaded with potential. The ninth grade boys adjusted well in dealing with the differences between middle school and high school basketball. Although their record does not show it, the boys actually performed well. The team had a great deal of talent and potential. All players on the team gained so much valuable experience that should be very helpful during their next three years in McEachern basketball.

Wrestling teams uphold winning tradition.

The 1983-1984 Wrestling Team introduced a very young group of men this past season. The largest number ever participated in try-outs this season (60) and as high as 22 freshmen wrestled on the team.

The Cobb County Tournament was held a month early and forced a step-up in expectations of the team. The Varsity placed 3rd in the county while the J.V. placed 2nd. Placing this high was a good sign because only five seniors were on the 83-84 team. Dedication and hard work produced a 7-0 record in the first half of the season. Robert Sikorski and Tony Taylor won 1st place in the County while Kerry Furr won 2nd; all three were seniors. Our freshmen won seven medals at the Cobb Tournament in January and this gives us great hope for the future.

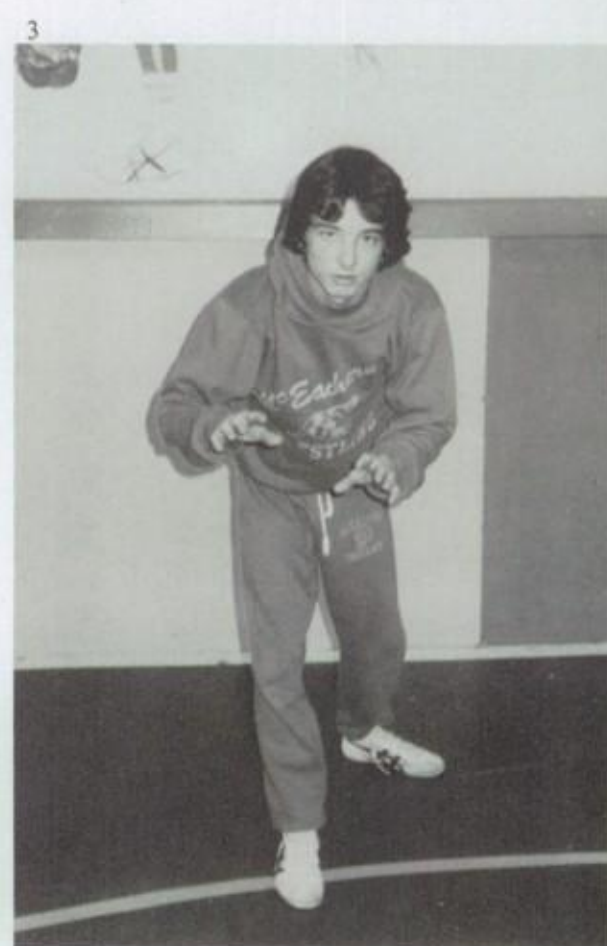

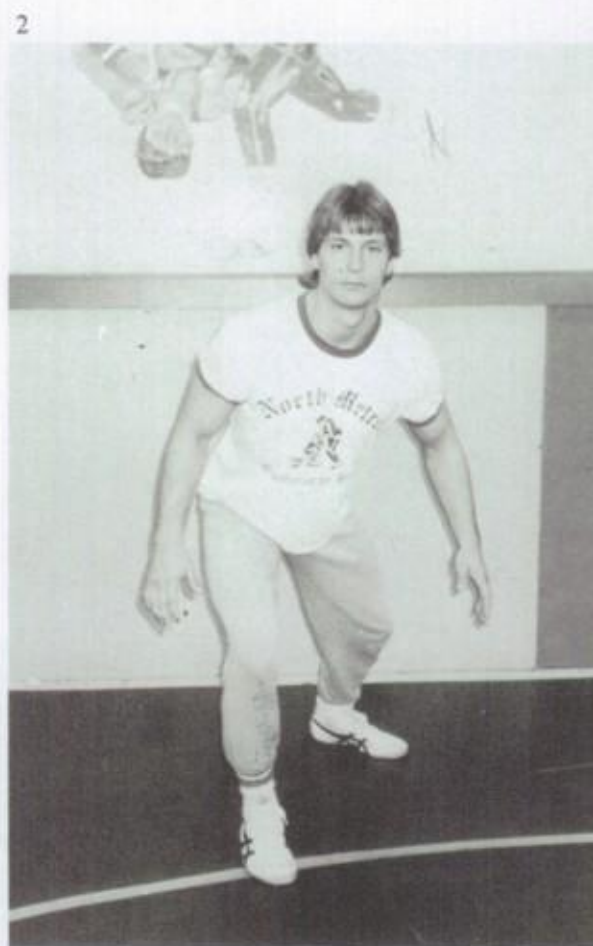

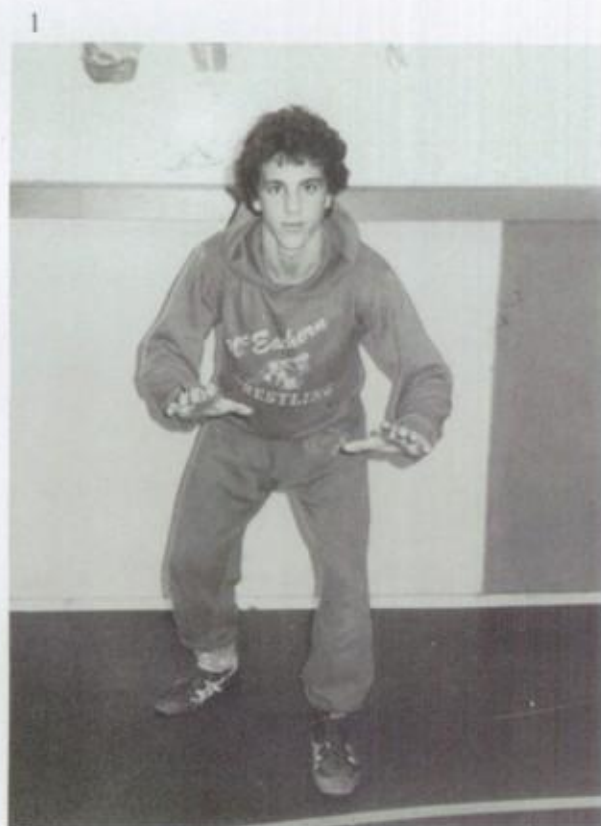

Several young men are having a great year:

Boys' track team was on the run

The 1983 Boys' Varsity Track team had a really great season in the Spring of '83. With the super coaching job of Waldon Garriss, the team finished 5th out of eleven teams in Cobb County and 3rd out of 17 in the region. The highlight of the season was the 400 meter relay team and 1983 graduate Darnell Musgrove. The first place region relay team members were: Darnell Musgrove, Angelo Rush, Major Rush, and Wesley McCleskey. Darnell Musgrove also won 2nd in the 100 meter and 200 meter dashes. In addition to these feats, he participated in the Volunteer Track Classic at the University of Tennessee.

Girls show competitive spirit during season

Last spring's Varsity Girls' Track team was an exceptionally unique group of girls. Although the team was fairly small in number, they showed great team unity. Lotta Nilsson, a foreign exchange student from Sweden, led the team in long distance. She set a school record of 12:46 in the two mile run and was awarded the "Best in Track" trophy. 1983 graduate Becky Dean set a school record of 34'6½" in the shot put and 112' in the discus. She won the "Best in Field" trophy. The team had many individual winners even though their 3-4 record did not seem to show it.

The 1983 Varsity Baseball Team finished with an impressive 19-10 overall record and a 12-5 region record. They started out slowly with a 2-5 record over their first seven games, but once they started, there was not anything that could stop them. At one point in the season, the team won 13 out of 14 games, including 10 in a row. They certainly turned it all around after their slow start by finishing 2nd in the region for the second year straight. Although the team lost many valuable seniors, the returning players are sure to make the 1984 team just as good as, if not better than, the 1983 team.

The 1983 J.V. Baseball Team was one of which to be proud. Their first 10 games resulted in victories. They ended their season with a 10-3 record. Their tremendous effort resulted in the honor of becoming Cobb County J.V. Champions. This team was one to be commended for their great defensive plays, excellent hitting, super base stealing, and their strong pitching. With most of these and other players returning, next year's team will carry on the tradition of champions.

1. Varsity players know who is number 1.
2. Bobby Verdin checks out the situation.
3. Steve Espy steps powerfully into the pitch.
4. The players listen attentively to Coach Roland's game plan.

The tennis team made McEachern proud.

The girls' Tennis Team had a spectacular year in 1983. Their season ended with a 7-1 record. The hard work and endless practicing of the team members paid off with great success. They placed second in our half of the sub-region, and, for the first time, reached the region playoffs. The team to the Marietta team who later won the championship position.

Outstanding Player trophies were presented to Adrienne Greene and Terri Holloway. Many others performed well. With one member graduating the 1984 tennis team will be one to contend with and one that will be remembered.

1. The 1983 Girls Tennis Team; Lisa Joines, Terri Holloway, Sally Cothran, Piper Adams, Trish Weekly, Adrienne Greene, and Coach Segers. 2. Nancy Williams awaits for the arrival of the serve. 3. In complete concentration Trish Weekly is ready for the return. 4. Terri Holloway works hard at practice.

The 1983 spring Golf team was extremely successful with a 19 win and 6 loss season. It was the best season of any McEachern Golf team. This was the first year for Coach Gerald Wahl to have the team, and he did an outstanding job. It could be characterized by the word Pride. Golf, being such an individual sport, takes self-dedication for improvement. The highlights of the season were a sudden death win over rival Wheeler and a sub-par round by Billy Hill at Pine Tree against Lassiter. Potential is what the '83 golfers showed this year, with 5 out of the top 6 golfers underclassmen. Next year's '84 team looks even more promising than its predecessor.

1. Todd Redd concentrates on the ball. 2. Tyler Peck begins his swing. 3. Ralph Barber swings at the ball. 4. Billy Hill follows through. 5. Jim Marston hits the ball.

Volleyball team comes out on top

Last year's volleyball team finished on top, taking 1st place in region, and 4th place in a tournament. Leading the team was MVP '83 senior Leigh Harmon. Leigh and Leslie Dixon were the only seniors on the team. Five of the outstanding players were chosen to play on the Junior Olympic Volleyball team. Last year's team played hard to win, and with the coaching of Patty Craven, the '84 spring team expects to be tough competition.

1. Kandi Porter congratulates Missy Mason on a good play. 2. Kandi Porter is ready for the ball. 3. Michelle Hood concentrates on the game. 4. Leigh Harmon prepares to serve. 5. The front line is in position for action.

As the seniors prepare to graduate and juniors prepare for seniority, we should realize just what McEachern High School will mean to us in years to come. To some, it means the football game they helped to win. To others, it may mean four years of friendships that will never end. To a few it may mean a foundation to their careers and lives, while to others, it may mean that special teacher who went out of his way to help the individual. To most, it will mean the best years of their youth.

Regardless of what McEachern means to one personally, no one can deny that McEachern High School means something to all its students—a sense of pride in their alma mater. Pride in our school, country, and selves is something we can all rely on in the years to come. After graduation, seniors will finally arrive at the place they have tried to reach for so long—the mature, real, adult world. Something they will be needing is a sense of belonging, and McEachern has always been good for that. No one can predict what the future holds, but there certainly is great comfort in knowing how well McEachern has prepared us for the years to come. McEachern High School is a name which we will carry in our memories and hearts forever.

Remembrances of McEachern

McEachern grants experience

McEachern has permitted us to learn not only the "books," but also more about ourselves. Interests were discovered. Some students found they had a talent for cutting hair, while others experienced the joys of performing in front of their peers. Athletes experienced the thrill of victory, while band and drill team members shared the spotlight at halftime. What will become of these talents? No one knows for sure; however, they will always be a part of our high school memories. The love and friendship McEachern has offered us will not be forgotten either. We can feel secure in the knowledge that a fine education has been granted to us, along with the benefits of the fellowship we have shared at McEachern. No one can predict what the future holds for us.

Reflections of MHS

As we reflect upon the past school year, we can all feel proud of how much has been accomplished. Not only have projects been completed, but also a great deal of growing up has taken place. We have spent a vital part of our teen-age years here at McEachern. New friendships were formed and old friendships were strengthened. Freshmen adjusted to the routine of high school life. Sophomores were just plain glad they weren't freshmen. Juniors spent much of their spare time raising money to put on a memorable homecoming dance and finally, the prom. Seniors enjoyed their status as leaders of the school and made an effort to make their last year of high school the best possible.

1. Flowers outside of Library Building. 2. Juniors Patty Pettitt and Donna Glover look for their homecoming pictures. 3. Seniors Bill Hughes and Jim Turner pose with their game towels. 4. Josh Little's eyes reflect his awe of the Homecoming night's festivities. 5. Seniors Sherry Seymour and Terri Sechrest carry the school banner displaying crest. 6. Senior Adrienne Greene speaks at senior covered-dish dinner. 7. Junior Varsity has fun posing for their picture.

McEachern exhibits never-ending pride

Patrick -
 I'm glad I met you
 this year
 you're a real sweet
 guy. Hope to see more of you next year. God Bless,
 In him -
 Kris

Besides showing their spirit during those specific events designed to excite McEachern students, the student body displayed pride in their school and teams on an everyday basis. One could always find students on campus wearing any number of blue and gold articles of clothing. McEachern bags, hats, and spirit ribbons were as commonplace as notes to friends and Vocabulary Workshops.

Those who participated in school functions proudly acknowledged their McEachern backgrounds. Those individuals who went to county and state competitions for activities such as GHP, NHS, and Who's Who showed their pride in a very competitive sense. Whether it was showing off the Indian, studying for tests, taking two laps around the field, or simply mentioning McEachern's name, everyone was showing his pride in McEachern.

1. Sophomores Lisa Carter, Kerri Brietbarth, Debbie Frier, Lisa Swords, Lynn Mann, and Lisa Clark show spirit at pep rally. 2. Senior Sherry Seamoore shows her decorative locker. 3. Sophomore Kristie Kautz and Lisa Getz along with Seniors Pat Nordholtz and Patricia Meurren and Freshman Chante Whiley to show off their costumes during homecoming week. 4. Seniors Debbie Davis and Melissa Necaie watch while the homecoming halftime gets under way. 5. Senior Billy Hill and Custodian Bill Ramnitz show that they are "#1". 6. Juniors enjoy fresh air during lunch. 7. Senior Leanne Goins sings during the senior assembly.

And so comes the end of another school year and the end of another volume of our lives. This volume, like all others, is unique and very special to all of us in our own ways. No year to date has been as decorated and celebrated as this one, primarily because of our efforts to show our pride. These efforts produced many great feats for McEachern. The year began with the best football pep rally on record. Our school's second senior assembly was also a great success. McEachern's 50th Anniversary was a much greater success than anticipated, complete with the usual spirit week, a unique carnival on campus, and a winning football game. Beta members enjoyed their Beta Day with its formality. The year's first blood drive, through the striving and generosity of McEachern students and faculty, netted 142 pints of much needed blood. White Christmas followed soon after during the holiday season, and was followed by the spirited basketball and wrestling seasons. The pride of McEachern has affected us all.
